ARGENTINA HANDS PASSPORTS TO COUNT LUXBURG

BERLIN ASKED TO EXPLAIN

Sweden Announces Its Minister at Buenos Aires Will Not Be Recalled.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Sept. 12.—The Argentine Government at noon today sent to the German legation passports to be delivered to Count Luxburg, the German Charge d'Affaires in Buenos Aires. The whereabouts of Count Luxburg still is unknown to the Argentine Government, but he is presumed still to be in the foothills of the Andes on a holiday.

The Argentine Foreign Office today sent a communication to the German Foreign Ministry demanding an explanation of Count Luxburg's action. Argentina would recall her Minister at Berlin. If the Berlin Government disapproved of his course, the status quo would be maintained.

The long delayed dispatches from Ambassador Naon, at Washington, were received by the Foreign Ministry late yesterday. The Ambassador sent these dispatches relating to the revelations regarding the Swedish Legation here on Friday, but they had been stalled along the road. They did not contain all the information the Foreign Ministry desired, and the Argentine Ambassador was instructed to see Secretary Lansing immediately for the purpose of obtaining more details.

The Argentine Congress has asked for an explanation from the Foreign Minister of all negotiations with Berlin regarding the freedom of the seas and Argentine ships. It also asks for a full explanation of the disclosures made by the State Department at Washington.

In a brief explanation of its part in the transmission of dispatches from the German Charge to Berlin, the Swedish Legation declared that German telegrams had been accepted in the same manner as the Swedish Government had forwarded dispatches for the British and American Governments. It was added by the legation that the contents were unknown to the members of the legation.

LETTERS FROM SENATOR FOUND IN RAID ON GERMAN NEWSPAPER

Four Members of the Staff of the Philadelphia Tagblatt Arrested Because of Hostile Articles.
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—Four members of the staff of the Philadelphia Tagblatt, whose offices were raided by Government agents, are under arrest and the remaining two will appear in time for hearing on Thursday. All are charged with violating the espionage act through the publication of letters from a United States Senator from a western state.

Among the things taken from the Tagblatt office were the minutes of the directors' meeting. These, it is said, show that two directors complained that the editorials in the paper were too vigorous enough. Agents of the Department of Justice reported that other articles seized included a number of letters from a United States Senator from a western state.

Louis Werner, editor-in-chief, and Waldemar Alfred, an editorial writer, surrendered to the Federal authorities yesterday and were held in $10,000 bail each. Peter Schaefer, president of the company, and Paul Vogel, treasurer, the other two men wanted, are in Cincinnati.

FRENCH ENTER GERMANS' THIRD LINE IN RAIDS

Garrisons Killed or Made Prisoner

BRITISH REPULSE ATTACKS

Teutons' Assaults Against New English Positions Fail—Fighting in Macedonia.

PARIS, Sept. 12.—French troops last night attacked the German trenches in the region of St. Souplet (east of Rheims), in the Champagne, and succeeded in smashing the first two German lines and entering the third positions. All the German troops garrisoning these trenches, the French War Office announced, were either killed or taken prisoner.

The statement says:
"In the Champagne district we conducted successfully several raids into the German lines, one north-east of Auberville and the other east of the road between St. Hilaire and St. Souplet. At this latter point French detachments penetrated as far as the German third line. A spirited fight developed in which the German garrison was either killed or made prisoner. We blew up numerous shelters and brought back important raw material."

"On the right bank of the River Meuse we repulsed two attacks upon our advanced posts north of Caurelles, and on the north of Bonvaux. An enemy attack northeast of Thure failed, and resulted in serious losses for our assailants."

"Enemy airplanes have bombarded the region of Dunkirk. There were several victims among the civilian population."

STONE TRYING TO HALT MEETING OF DEMOCRATS

Writes That Dunklin County
Gathering Is Unfair; Can't Be There to Defend Himself.

PRaises REED HIGHLY

Assemblage at Kennett Saturday
Expected to Sanction War
Course of President.

State-wide interest is being attracted to the meeting of Democrats called for next Saturday afternoon at Kennett, Mo., because of the practical certainty that the meeting will turn into a protest against the administration's policies since the beginning of the great war.

The meeting was called by former State Senator Thomas R. Ely, chairman of the Dunklin County Democratic Central Committee. It takes the expected trend it will be the first concrete expression by a Democratic party organization of the sentiment against the two Missouri Senators, noticeably recently among Democrats in all parts of the State.

Although the call for the meeting sent out by Ely does not mention any probable action against the Senators, Senator Stone has written to nearly all Democrats in Dunklin County, objecting to the meeting being held, on the ground that he is unable to leave Washington at this time to defend himself against criticism. He declares the meeting would be unfair to him. His letter has caused some change in the plans for the meeting.

Reed's Trip Significant.
Senator Reed's trip into the State last week was thought to have been an effort to head off the growing dissatisfaction among Democrats which politicians predicted was likely to result in just such a movement as that expected to be started at Kennett. Senator Reed has made several speeches and conferred with leading Democrats and office holders in Kansas City and St. Louis.

Ely, by long-distance telephone, today told the Post-Dispatch that he called the association of Democrats to a meeting and announced that an increase in the price of milk to be made. Then there is a meeting of the members of the producers' association with St. Louis dealers, who try to get them to modify their demands. That is what will be done in the present case.

The meeting will be held here Tuesday. The dealers will tell the producers that they are entitled to an increase, but that they are asking too much. Maybe the producers will be satisfied with less of an advance than they have announced.

One-Cent Advance Last Year.
It is usual for the price to advance at about this season of the year and there was an advance about this time last year, but it was only 1 cent a quart. During the winter it went up to 10 cents a quart. Then summer came, and instead of the price going down, as is usual, it continued to climb. In July it went up to 11 cents. It has remained at that price until now.

J. C. Babanne, vice president of the Louis Dairy Co., thinks the producers will raise the price, but he does not think they will insist upon $3.50, but that there will be some increase.

N. E. Baum of Carlyle, Ill., secretary of the Illinois association, told a Post-Dispatch reporter today that the proposed increase was forced by the fact that feed and labor had advanced 100 per cent since this time last year.

Missouri Dairymen Organized.
Fred Henke, Cyrus A. Love and E. B. Barlow, who reside near Edwardsville, went to Florissant last night and organized the producers of that vicinity. Henry A. Keen was elected president and Ben Dehlmann, secretary. The Florissant Union will be affiliated with the Illinois association. Other unions will be organized in other Missouri milk shipping centers. The unions will then be brought together in country organizations which will be represented by delegates in the Illinois association.

The Illinois association now extends over nine counties and has a membership of 2700.

Butter at 75 Cents a Pound Is Probable.
Butter manufacturers today said that if milk producers succeeded in their effort to get $3.50 per 100 pounds for milk, which they are now selling at $2.20 per 100 pounds, it is likely to cause butter to go to 75 cents a pound before the winter is over. Creamery butter was retailed at 50 cents today.

ONE DRAFTED IN TOWN OF 300
Former Alton Man Passes Army Test at Landon, Wis.
Louis Gissal, a former Alton man, is the sole eligible man of draft age in a town of 300 persons at Landon, Wis. Gissal had been managing a quarry there. He will report for service at the Fort Cluster Training Camp near Battle Creek, Mich.

He says that most men in Landon are beyond the draft age.

"Pan-Germans have loudly welcomed the new Chancellor. He has avoided stating his position much too long already to show that he does not want their approval. He has, until now, also blacked out giving the German public the change in policies he intends to make."

"He declared on July 18 that he had no intentions which could not be carried out."

STIFF INCREASE COMING IN PRICE OF WINTER'S MILK

Retailers Predict Illinois Producers' Increase Will Bring
Cost to 15 Cents a Quart.

ONLY 8 CENTS LAST YEAR

Missouri Dairymen Affiliate With Illinois Organization; Feed and Labor Price Increases Cited.

St. Louis will pay $9100 more each day for its milk than it paid at this time last year, if the increase threatened by the Southern Illinois Milk Producers' Association is made. That means that in a year the St. Louis milk bill would be $3,321,500 more than on the basis of the price at this time last year, a total increase of 37 1/2 per cent.

The Producers' Association is now getting $2.20 per 100 pounds for its milk. It proposes to charge $3.50 per 100 pounds. The retail price at this time last year was 8 cents a quart. It is now 11 cents per quart.

If the producers make the threatened increase, dairymen say the retail price will be 15 cents a quart, an increase of 7 cents a quart over the price at this time last year.

City Uses 32,500 Gallons Daily.
The milk requirements of St. Louis at this period of the year are 32,500 gallons a day, of which 24,000 gallons come from Illinois. The Illinois association fixes the producers' price, which is the basis of the retail price. The Missouri dealers heretofore have followed the prices fixed by the Illinois association. Now the Missouri producers are being organized by the Illinois men and will be affiliated with the Illinois association.

Retail milk dealers say that St. Louis is at the mercy of the Milk Producers' Association. The prices it chooses to fix for milk to the dealers determine the price which the dealers must charge to the consumers. The producers' price is limited only by the producers' ideas of what they should get and the degree to which they are sensitive to public protest.

The procedure is for the producers' association to demand a price increase and announce that an increase is to be made. Then there is a meeting of the members of the producers' association with St. Louis dealers, who try to get them to modify their demands. That is what will be done in the present case.

SCHEIDEMANN ASKS FOR PEACE AT ONCE WITHOUT KNOCKOUT

Article in Vorwarts Urges Terms Which Leaves "Every Nation a Chance to Live."

ASSAILS PAN-GERMANS

Calls on Chancellor to Put Stop to Their Loud
Screamings.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
THE HAGUE, Sept. 12.—Under the heading, "Verstaendigungsfriede"—sensible people for peace by agreement—Philipp Scheidemann, German Socialist leader, writes in Vorwarts:
"The ridiculously small pan-German army, making a row again as if hundreds of thousands were behind it, is in fact much ado about nothing. If it were possible to count the number of these will g to risk their lives, it should be done at once, to show how few the minority of row makers are."

"Reventlow tries to prove that Germany would become the most important empire in which the people would be in continuous misery if a peace by agreement is concluded, while Reventlow peace would make the empire a paradise, flowing with milk and honey. It is bootless trouble to try to convince pan-Germans of the absurdity of their beliefs. It is enough for our readers to repeat once more our principle that no nation may be violated. Every sensible man knows that this is impossible without forcing Germany into a new war. Germany would not tolerate being divided up by annexation to live in a sort of sponging house on the order of other nations and to see her political autonomy jeopardized and that after such a peace Germany would begin preparation for a new war."

Wants Peace by Agreement.
"The same thing would be done by every other nation forced into the same position. We fought three years with all our forces to keep away such a peace from us. Therefore we insist on no peace by a knockout, but by an agreement which promises to be durable and makes possible the reconciliation of nations and their peaceful association. All who live here and who have contact with the army and navy know that the German nation decided 'to spend the last breath for defense of the home states, to give the last drop of blood to prevent Germany from being violated; but they also know that the nation is ready to make peace by agreement to end this horrible, wholesale murder—a peace which leaves every nation a chance to live."

"May they, whose conception of peace changes with war events, not forget to figure out how long a war must last to make a peace after Reventlow's ideals. Everybody must feel sure it would be necessary at least for Russia, Italy, France and England to be knocked out to say nothing of Japan, America and our enemies. May they not forget that every day costs the imperial treasury nearly 100,000,000 marks (about $25,000,000) and every day demands so many human lives and limbs. In peace times a great catastrophe, the story of which nobody can read without being shocked, so that everybody is convinced that everything should be done to prevent repetition of it—and this catastrophe happens daily for three years long."

"One should figure out how many sacrifices in blood and treasures it would cost if it were possible to knock out all the enemies, the hundreds of thousands of human lives, the incalculable billions that would have to be thrown away for a chance to win the big prize which, whoever should win, would be a firebomb of the greatest danger for the whole world."

"The propaganda of peace by violence shows a perfect lack of conscience. It is gambling for the body and soul of our nation—gambling for the existence of the German empire."

"Excepting some such eccentrics as live in all countries, nobody wants peace at any price, but for peace by agreement undoubtedly a tremendous majority of the German people stand."

"It is therefore the duty of every sensible man to work for such a peace, to fight the desperate politics of the pan-German Conservatives, the heavy industrialists, the professors and the journalists. Anyone who in the name of peace, blacked out giving the German public the change in policies he intends to make."

"He declared on July 18 that he had no intentions which could not be carried out."

STUDENT AVIATORS KILLED WHEN AIRPLANES COLLIDE

Californians Were Flying at a "Blind Angle" About 500 Feet in the Air.

SANDIEGO, Cal., Sept. 12.—Edward M. Walsh Jr. and Theodore B. Lyman, student aviators at the North Island Military Aviation School, were killed today when their planes collided about 500 feet above ground. Both men were Californians.

According to the official announcement of the accident made by Col. Dade, commanding officer at North Island, Walsh and Lyman collided in midair while flying at a "blind angle."

Because of the position of their planes at the time of the accident, it was said neither was able to see the other.

CONTROL OF SUGAR INDUSTRY
WILL BE TAKEN OVER OCT. 1

Licensing System to Include Manufacturing, Refining, Imports and Distribution.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The entire American sugar industry will be placed under Government control Oct. 1 by the institution of a licensing system to include manufacture, refining and imports. The step was decided on with the approval of President Wilson, to prevent speculative prices and to assure equitable distribution.

Beet sugar producers already have accepted a scale of prices suggested by the food administration which means a saving to the consuming public of more than $30,000,000 between now and the first of the year. Cane sugar refiners have agreed to import all their requirements through a committee to be named by the food administration, which will apportion shipments among them.

MISSING MRS. MARTIN SAFE
AT HOME IN OKLAHOMA CITY

Ernest S. Martin, an Oklahoma City broker stopping at the Marquette Hotel, today told a Post-Dispatch reporter he had received a telegram from his home informing him of the safe arrival there of his wife, Roberta, 20 years old, who disappeared from the Marquette last Saturday, following a tiff with him. He said he would depart during the day for Oklahoma City.

Martin and detectives had been searching for Mrs. Martin since Sunday. He had talked with a number of persons who thought they had seen his wife in various parts of St. Louis.

ernment was caught wholly unaware.

The Constitutional Democrats, M. Nekrasoff said, had no part in the plot, and no members of that party had been at Gen. Korniloff's headquarters.

The Government had received information that the dissonance had broken out in Gen. Korniloff's camp. The army sent against Petrograd, the Vice Premier declared, had been deceived, having been told Gen. Korniloff's only aim was to drive the Bolshevik group out of the capital. The Government has taken measures to undeceive the soldiers on this point.

M. Nekrasoff concludes as regards the composition of the provisional Cabinet that M. Yourenoff, Minister of Public Works, and Prof. Kokoshine, the State controller, were the only Ministers who had definitely resigned. The attitude of M. Oldenburg, Minister of Public Instructions, and of M. Kartasheff, Procurator of the Holy Synod, was doubtful.

Premier Kerensky, the Vice Premier stated, has been offered special powers, and he has the support of the whole country.

First Battle Is Reported.

According to a statement circulated by the dispatch agency yesterday, but which has not been confirmed, the first collision between the troops and the Government forces already has taken place, the followers of Korniloff having begun the hostilities by bombarding Government positions with heavy guns.

It was reported that at 10 o'clock Monday night two columns of Korniloff's troops entered Gatchina, 35 miles from Petrograd, without opposition, and that other forces moved on to the city with the aim of cutting the Petrograd Railroad. During the night telephonic communication with Tver (Central Russia) ceased.

Gen. Korniloff's Army.

The army of Gen. Korniloff operating against the capital is believed to consist of the following: Several Cossack regiments, the First Cavalry Corps, the "Savage Division," Tatar, Turkoman, Morzmen, a so-called striking battalion of picked men organized to fight against Germany; so-called Korniloff battalions, railroad and sapper units, heavy artillery of four divisions and several batteries of light artillery. All the troops are under command of Gen. Klimoff, former commander of a cavalry corps.

An official announcement said:

"The superior officers everywhere are acting in accordance with the revolutionary commissaries of the Government and the committees at the front. Gen. Denikine, commander on the southwestern front, and the whole of his headquarters staff have been arrested. Gen. Erdell, former military Governor of Petrograd, who disobeyed army commands, also has been arrested, together with several members of his staff.

"The Baltic fleet, with its officers, has placed itself unanimously on the side of the provisional Government.

"Only small detachments of troops have been moved toward Petrograd by Korniloff. Through deception they have remained deluded regarding their position. The further advance of these forces has been arrested and the bonds between them broken. Individual units of them have sent delegates to Petrograd with the request that they be furnished with orders to arrest those commanders who have betrayed the provisional Government.

To Defend Petrograd.

"The Government has taken measures to put Petrograd in a state of defense against attacks, and the hope is entertained that all bloodshed of civil war will be avoided.

"Evidence of the loyalty of the troops and people to the provisional Government is being received from all the provinces, while all public organizations have announced their determination to support the revolutionary government by every possible means.

"It is essential to the safety of the fatherland that complete unity of action be preserved. The Government enjoins absolute calm and urges complete submission to the Government and its representatives.

"KERENSKY."

All elements in the revolution of Moscow, according to reports received here emphasize assurances of support to the provisional Government which already have been given by the Municipal Council. Gen. Verkhovsky called all the officers of the garrison together in the public square and was given assurance that they would support Premier Kerensky. The Saint George Cavaliers have made a special offer of their services and there appears to be unity among the workmen's groups.

Petrograd is said to have sufficient provisions to last for four or five days.

The Central Committee of the Constitutional Democratic party today informed Premier Kerensky that the party was agreed to its members joining a reconstituted Russian Cabinet in order to avoid civil war.

Food Shortage May Make Defense of Petrograd Difficult.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Shortage of foodstuffs in Petrograd may make more difficult the defense of the Russian capital by the Kerensky Government against Gen. Korniloff. Dispatches to the State Department from Ambassador Francis said an evacuation of Petrograd by a part of the civilian population was under way and gave as a reason the scarcity of supplies. The dispatches were sent three days ago.

TROOPERS HELD FOR AUTO THEFT

Cavalrymen Accused of Taking Machine Belonging to Woman.

Private Melvin Watson, 18 years old, of B Troop, Missouri Cavalry, was arrested last night at Leffingwell avenue and Olive street, when driving an automobile owned by Mrs. Dorothy Stages, 3229 S. 2nd street, which had been stolen two hours before from in front of her apartment.

Private Silas S. Moore of B Troop also was arrested when Watson implicated him in the theft.

People With Me, Kerensky Says in Statement to U. S.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 12.

In answer to a request, Premier Kerensky made the following statement Monday to the Associated Press for transmission to the American people:

"In view of the fact that the Cabinet is sitting uninterruptedly discussing measures, the premature announcement of which is impossible, I am obliged until later, when conditions and prospects may be clearer than now. You may, nevertheless, announce the following:

"The situation with respect to the conflict between the provisional Government and the revolting Commander in Chief is more serious than we earlier contemplated and it is impossible to predict what developments may ensue in the next few hours. But as regards the fundamental position there is no doubt. The fundamental position is that the Petrograd supreme Government is absolutely unanimously in favor of all decisive measures which we have prepared and are preparing against the present attempt by a military rebel in alliance with the reactionary elements of the country to exploit the fatherland's internal troubles in order to effect a counter revolution, with the design of robbing the Russian peoples of their hard-won liberties.

"Regarding the nation, I declare that I have no doubt whatever that the mass of the population is behind the Government in its new fight for freedom, and, that new fight, I have no doubt whatever about the triumph of our cause. In that triumph I have absolute and unqualified faith."

he realized within the peace resolution passed by the Reichstag. After that somewhat roundabout but clear concession to the resolution, he later in the Main Committee stated expressly he had not put himself on the basis of that resolution. When called to order he said solemnly that he had agreed with the resolution.

"Michaels was praised as a man of strict sincerity and deep religiosity—a man who had been known to act according to the Bible, whose word of his 'Yes' would be 'Yes,' to your 'No,' 'No,' and now he has provoked misunderstanding by the fact that he has not spoken a plain 'Yes' or 'No.'

"If this should be his first step on the difficult and slippery field of diplomacy he has been derailed at once in a horrible way. What is most regrettable is that his clear concession to the Reichstag resolution is much less valuable on account of his general behavior.

"What is most regrettable is the fact that the Chancellor still continues to avoid giving a clear answer to Mr. Asquith's question in the British commons about the fate of Belgium.

"We in Germany do not need this answer any longer. The enemies and the neutrals cannot be reminded with enough clearness that we cannot think of the violation of Belgium in any form whatever.

"Many things have been neglected by Michaels, but in the answer to the Pope's note many things may be made good.

"Let us hope that this happen and against Pan-German policies it is only to show our colors in the interest of Germany and a speedy peace."

RECEIVER SUES TO RECOVER ALLEGED COMMISSIONS ON SALE

H. S. Caulfield Charges $20,000 Was Paid to Defendants Not Connected With Hargadine-McKittick Deal.

Henry S. Caulfield, receiver for the Hargadine-McKittick Dry Goods Co., today filed suit in the Circuit Court against the Hargadine-McKittick Investment Co.; G. Herbert Walker and Allen T. West, co-partners in the firm of G. H. Walker & Co., and Robert McKittick Jones, who was appointed receiver of the assets of the Hargadine-McKittick Dry Goods Co., on March 24, 1916.

James H. Hargadine, the liquidating committee in charge of the assets of the Hargadine-McKittick Dry Goods Co., Caulfield alleges that the sale of the merchandise was negotiated solely by Jones as chairman of the committee, in which capacity he received $1000 a month, and that the payment of commissions was for the purpose of enriching the other defendants at the expense of the Hargadine-McKittick stockholders.

The receiver alleges that Jones is a stockholder in Walker, West & Company Investment Co., that he is reported to be G. H. Walker & Co., and that G. H. Walker is a director of Ely & Walker Dry Goods Co. This is one of the suits which the Court directed Caulfield, when he was appointed receiver, to file in an effort to recover some of the assets of the Hargadine-McKittick Company.

WHY MOVIE ACTOR WAS EXEMPT

Performer's Sworn Statements Made Public by Board.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Officials of the local exemption board have made public the affidavits on which exemption from military service was granted to Bryant Washburn, a moving picture actor. The affidavits included those from physicians asserting that Mrs. Mabel Washburn, the actor's wife, was physically unable to engage in any occupation and one from her of moving picture concerns asserting she had no contact with her companies. Ralph O. Proctor, the Government agent, signed an affidavit that he had investigated the actors' financial affairs and found that $5500 represented his savings. To offset this there was an unpaid debt of $3500.

Office, and as he had acted in good faith and did not know the contents of the dispatches, he would not be recalled.

Admiral Lindman said he would not be astonished if Secretary of State Lansing had more documents of a similar nature in store, emanating from the European side and in good faith and with the consent of Great Britain, forwarded to German official representatives in South America.

It is the general impression, even among the strongly opposed political parties, that Sweden acted in good faith in the matter of the German telegrams, but public opinion nevertheless is stirred by the fact that code telegrams of German origin were permitted to be forwarded, without giving the Swedish officials the key to the code so that they might control the contents of the dispatch.

The incident is expected to place the late Cabinet in an unfavorable light and to have a great bearing on the general elections now in progress. In these elections the Conservatives already have lost seven seats and the Socialists and Liberals are gaining steadily.

naval air service. One of these patrols engaged two enemy spotting machines, one being shot down, the machine crashing into the sea and the other landing almost intact in our lines. The pilot and observer of the latter machine were made prisoners. Two other enemy machines were attacked and driven down. In conjunction with a bombing raid nine enemy machines were encountered, five of which are believed to have been driven down out of control.

Bombing raids were made last night on airfields and railway stations and several tons of explosives were dropped.

Many tons of explosives were dropped also yesterday morning.

"Mrs. Lucien Dudley D'Henry" Exposed With Get Her Hands on Man Under Arrest in Rochester, N. Y.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Rochester police are investigating reports today that a man, recently arrested at Holley on a charge of bigamy and whose posing as a member of Lafayette Escadrille led to investigation of his record by the Aero Club of America, had at least five wives, and perhaps more.

One letter received by the chief of police from a woman in New York said: "I married D'Henry in England many years ago and am his wife."

Another letter from a St. Louis woman who signed herself "Mrs. Lucien Dudley D'Henry," suggested that D'Henry be sent to St. Louis "so I can again have hands on him."

A third letter dated "Somewhere in Pennsylvania," notified the police of a wife of D'Henry in Germany who sacrificed her fortune of $3000 so that D'Henry could receive instructions in aviation.

OFFICER'S CHECKS COME BACK

Cafe Proprietor Cashed Two for $25 Each for Man in Army Uniform.

Augustine J. Cleard, proprietor of a West End cafe, told the police last night that two checks cashed by him for a man who said he was Harold J. Keyes of Fort Slocum, N. Y., had been returned to him by the Corn Exchange Bank of New York marked "no funds."

The checks, for $25 each, were cashed Sept. 1 and Sept. 7. Each was signed Harold J. Keyes, and purported to be drawn against his account. The man wore a Lieutenant's uniform and visited the cafe frequently, accompanied by a West End girl whose name has been given to the police. Cleard says the man was a good spender.

KORNILOFF TELLS PEOPLE RUSSIA "IS PERISHING"

Texts of His Proclamations Include Charge Government Acts Carry Out German Plans.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 12.—The texts of Gen. Korniloff's proclamations are published here. The first, dated at Mohilev, denounces Premier Kerensky's describing of Vladimir Lovoff's mission as untrue and declares that Korniloff did not send Lovoff to Kerensky, but that Kerensky first sent Lovoff to him with the aim to create trouble.

"Russian men," continues the proclamation, "our great fatherland is perishing. The Government, under the pressure of the Bolshevik majority of the councils, is acting in full accord with the plans of the German general staff. Overwhelming consciousness of the impending ruin of the fatherland compels me in this menacing moment to summon all Russian men to save perishing Russia. All in whose breasts beat Russian hearts, all who believe in God, let them flock to the temple and pray that to perform a great miracle, a miracle of saving the fatherland."

"I, Gen. Korniloff, son of a peasant and Cossack, declare to all that I require nothing personally, nothing except the salvation of mighty Russia, and I swear to lead the nation by the road of victory over the foe to a constituent assembly through which the nation will decide its own fate and choose the organization of its own political life. But I shall never betray Russia into the hands of its traditional foe—the German race, or make the Russian people the slaves of Germany. I prefer to die on the field of honor and battle rather than to witness the shame and infamy of Russian lands."

"Russian people, in your hands rests the fate of the country. 'KORNILOFF.' In the second proclamation, Gen. Korniloff declares he is supported by all of the higher commanders on the front, denounces the Government for incapacity, weakness and indecision, and declares that in order to veil its unfitness the Government is creating the chimera of a nonexistent counter-revolution.

The provisional Government has under the martial law regulations prohibited the circulation of Gen. Korniloff's manifestos or the publication of unofficial news concerning military measures taken against the revolt.

GIRL'S ESCORT IS ROBBED OF $380; HER PLUMS RETURNED

Man Says One of Pair Who Waylaid Him Walked Seven Blocks to Home With Fruit.

Mike Kostulane, 24 years old, of Granite City, last night reported to the police that he was waylaid by two highwaymen and robbed of $380 at Ninth street and Ann avenue at 10 o'clock, while he was escorting Miss Anna Vukella, 19, to her home at 1306 South 13th street.

One of the robbers, he said, pushed Miss Vukella into the gutter, causing her to drop a basket of plums which had been carrying. This robber, he said, later picked up the basket and carried it seven blocks to Miss Vukella's home, where he returned it to her.

The police learned that Kostulane, who was visiting Miss Vukella the afternoon, displayed his money in the presence of her and her brother, Pete, 17 years old. Both were held for a time and questioned closely, but they denied they knew the identity of the robbers.

GERARD TELLS OF GERMAN NEWSPAPER WAR ON AMERICA

Former Ambassador Describes How the Agitation Against Shipment of Munitions by American Firms Was Encouraged by the Foreign Office Over His Protest--What Germany Thinks of "German-Americans."

This is the thirty-fifth installment of "My Four Years in Germany," in which the American diplomat recounts his experiences at the Court of Berlin.

By JAMES W. GERARD,

American Ambassador to the German Imperial Court, July 18, 1913, to Feb. 4, 1917.

Copyright, 1917, by the Public Ledger Company. Copyright, Canada, 1917, by the Public Ledger Company. International copyright, 1917, by the Public Ledger Company. All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced without the written permission of the publisher.

THERE was published in Berlin in English a rather ridiculous paper called the "Continental Times," owned by an Austrian Jewess who had been married to an Englishman. The Foreign Office after the outbreak of the war virtually took over this sheet by buying monthly many thousand copies. News colored hysterically to favor the Central Empire was printed in this paper, which was headed "A Paper for Americans," under the editorship of an Englishman of decent family named Stanhope, who, of course in consequence did not have to inhabit the prison camp at Ruhleben.

Edwin Emerson was a contributor to this newspaper, and scurrilous articles attacking President Wilson appeared. Finally, Emerson wrote a lying article for this paper, in which he charged that Conger, of the Associated Press, had learned of Sir Roger Casement's proposed expedition; that Conger told me; that I cabled the news to Washington to the State Department, and that a member of President Wilson's Cabinet then gave the information to the British Ambassador. Later, in a wireless which the Foreign Office permitted Emerson to send Senator O'Gorman of New York, Emerson varied his lie, and charged that I had sent the information direct to England.

"The Continental Times" was distributed in the prison camp, and after Emerson's article I said to Von Jagow: "I have had enough of this nonsense, which is supported by the Foreign Office, and if articles of the nature of Emerson's appear again, I shall make a public statement that the prisoners of war in Germany are subjected to a cruel and unusual punishment by having the lying 'Continental Times' placed in their hands, a paper which purports to be published for Americans and edited by a renegade Englishman."

This "Continental Times" business again caused one to wonder at the German psychology, which seems to think that the best way to make friends is to attack them. The author of "The Gentle Art of Making Enemies" must have attended a German school.

Foreign Office of the "League of Truth."

An Ambassador is supposed to be protected; but not even when I filed affidavits in the Foreign Office in 1916, made by Marten, the ex-secretary of the "League of Truth," and by a man who was constantly with Marten and the derlist, that Marten had threatened to shoot me, did the Foreign Office dare or wish to do anything against the ridiculous league. These affidavits were corroborated by a respectable restaurant keeper in Berlin and his assistants, who testified that Marten with several ferocious-looking German officers had come to his restaurant "looking" for me. I never took any precaution against these lunatics, whom I knew to be a bunch of cowardly swindlers.

Marten and his friends were also engaged in a propaganda against the Jews.

The activities of Marten were caused by the fact that he made money out of his propaganda, as numerous fool Germans and traitorous Americans contributed to his war chest, and by the fact that his work was so favorably received by the military that this husky coward was excused from all military service.

It seemed, too, as if the Government was anxious to cultivate the hate against America. Long before American ammunition was delivered in any quantity to England and long before any at all was delivered to France, not only did the Government influence newspapers and official gazettes, but the official communiques alleged that quantities of American ammunition were being used on the west front.

The Government seemed to think that if they could stir up enough hate against America in Germany on this ammunition question the Americans would become terrorized and stop the shipments.

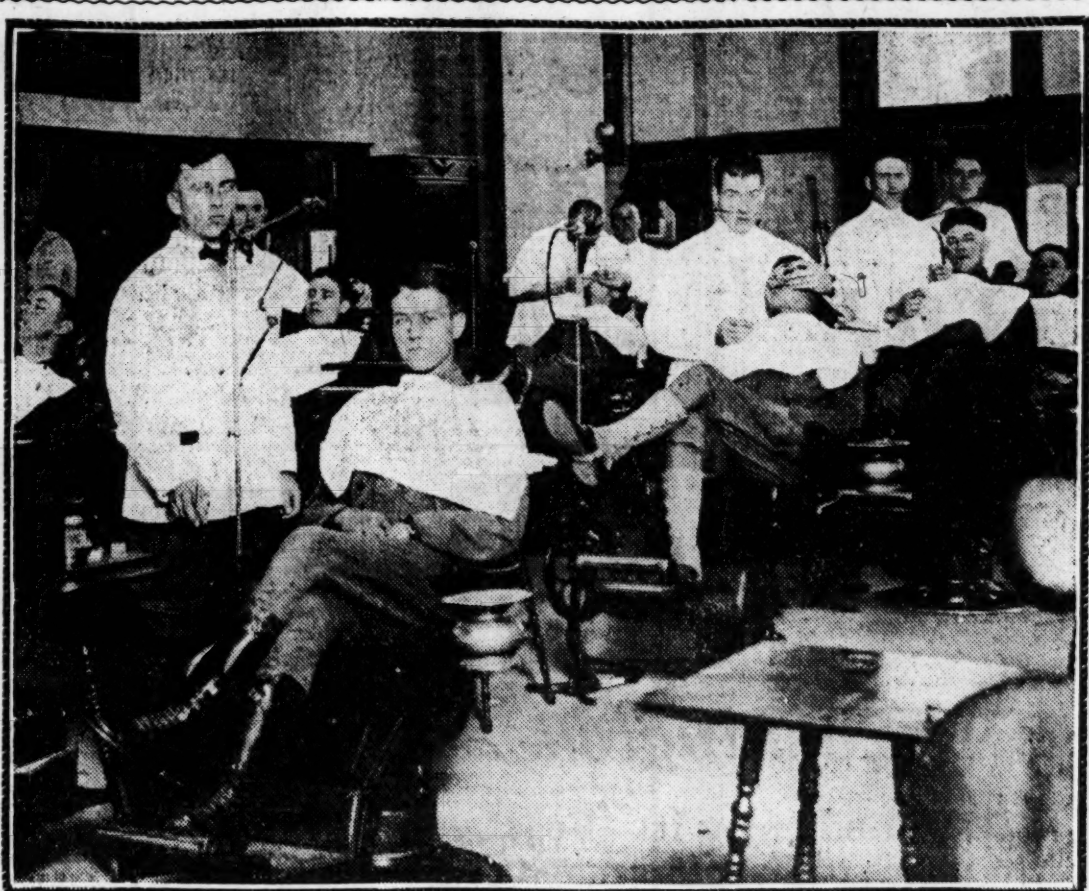

I can recall now only two writers in all Germany who dared to say a good word for America. One of these, Regierungsrat Paul Krause, son-in-law of Field Marshal von der Goltz, wrote an article in January, 1917, in the Lokal Anzeiger, pointing out the American side of the question of this munition shipment, and that bold and fearless speaker and writer, Maximilian Harden, dared to make a defense of the American standpoint. The principal article in one of the issues of his paper, Die Zukunft, was headed "If I Were Wilson." After some copies had been sold the issue was confiscated by the police, whether at the instance of the military or the instance of the Chancellor I do not know. Every one had the impression in Berlin that this confiscation was by order of Gen. von Kessel, the War Governor of the Mark of Brandenburg.

Copy of Maximilian Harden's Paper.

I met Harden before the war and occasionally conversed with him thereafter. Once in a while he gave a lecture in the great hall of the Philharmonic, always filling the hall to overflowing. In his lectures which, of course, were carefully passed on by the police, he said nothing startling. His newspaper is a weekly publication, a little book about seven inches by four and a half, but wielding an influence not at all commensurate with its size.

The Liberal papers, like the largest paper of Berlin, the Tageblatt, edited by Theodore Wolff, were not violently against America, were not favorable. But the articles in the Conservative papers and even some

Scene at St. Louis' New Army Dental Clinic

SEVERAL members of A Battery, First Missouri Field Artillery, were the first soldiers to apply for dental treatment at the free clinic for soldiers, which was opened this morning at Washington University Dental School, Ewing avenue and Locust street.

Nine dentists commissioned as Lieutenants have been assigned to care for the teeth of enlisted men in St. Louis. Drafted men certified for the National Army may have dental work done at the clinic before departing for cantonments.

Having announced that she would personally receive contributions on that day. She took the money from the secretary and spoke bitterly against America on account of the shipment of arms.

Even some boxes of cigarettes were sent another royalty at the front at Christmas time, 1914, were not acknowledged.

Persecution of Doctor Jacobs.

Doctor Jacobs, who was the correspondent in Berlin of Musical America, and who remained there until about April 26, 1917, was called to the Kommandantur about April 16, 1917, and subjected to a cross-examination. During this cross-examination he was asked if he knew about the "League of Truth," and why he did not join that organization. Whether as a result of his non-joining, I do not know, but during the remainder of his stay in Berlin he was compelled to leave his house after 8 o'clock in the evening. The question, however, put to him shows the direct interest that the German authorities took in the existence of his malodorous organization.

It appears that in some of the circulars issued by the League of Truth I was accused of giving American passports to Englishmen in order to enable them to leave the country.

After I left Germany there was an interpellation in the Reichstag about this and Zimmerman was asked about the charge, which, he said, he had investigated and found untrue.

In another chapter I have spoken of the selling of arms and supplies by America to the allies. No German ever forgets this. The question of legality of treaties never enters his mind; he only knows that American supplies and munitions killed his brother, son or father. It is a hate we must meet for long years.

SAYS HUSBAND FORCED HER TO SIGN DEPENDENCY AFFIDAVIT

Wellston Woman Makes Affidavit She Was Pulled From Bed to Sign Statement That Won Exemption.

Mrs. Alice Drinning of 6321 Chatham avenue, Wellston, made affidavit today before the Prosecuting Attorney at Clayton, that her husband, Walter Drinning, 25 years old, compelled her to sign an affidavit before he sought and obtained exemption from the draft, Aug. 20.

She said she pulled her from bed and made her sign the paper, and that she did not have a chance to see what it contained, but she believes it was a statement that she and her 11-month-old child were dependent on Drinning for support. Such a statement, she said, would be false, as he does not support her. She said her principal support came from her mother, Mrs. W. S. Misk of 6210 Chatham avenue.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Kiskaddon, who is appeal attorney for the Government in the first district of St. Louis County, said he would place Mrs. Drinning's affidavit before the District Appeal Board.

GIRL WOULD BE PAGE IN HOUSE

Applies to Miss Rankin for Appointment and Is Promised Aid.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Suffrage took a juvenile turn today when Miss Rankin, the member from Montana, announced she would try to have Miss Cecilia Martin installed as a page in the House of Representatives.

Miss Martin, a business-like girl of 14 years, who wants to study, appeared in Miss Rankin's office yesterday and asked to be appointed a page, saying she thought the work would help her in her law studies. She asked why a girl couldn't be a page if a woman could be a member of Congress. Miss Rankin agreed she was stumped, but promised to exert every effort to have her appointed. When the other pages, dapper young men, from 12 to 19 years of age, heard the news they spent most of the afternoon straightening their ties.

CITY TO CERTIFY DOUBLE ITS SEPTEMBER QUOTA

Will Have 3500 Ready to Serve Tomorrow, When Only 1749 Are Required.

By tomorrow night, the date on which St. Louis must certify to the Adjutant-General at Jefferson City the names of 40 per cent of its draft quota, the District Appeals Board in the Boatmen's Bank Building expects to have listed the names of 3500 men ready for service. The total quota of the city is 4377. It was at first thought that St. Louis would have to have 50 per cent of its men ready, owing to the backwardness of the country districts, but the latest information from Jefferson City is that only 40 per cent of the city's allotment will entrain in the mobilization period beginning Sept. 19.

Forty per cent of St. Louis' quota is 1749. While the District Board has certified nearly twice as many as this the regulations require that each ward have 40 per cent ready. The District Board anticipates no difficulty in having the needed number of men from each of the 28 St. Louis districts and the three in St. Louis County.

In the meantime the board is rushing its hearings on claims for exemption. From 60 to 100 a day are being disposed of.

126 Names Certified.

The names of 126 men were certified to the District Appeal Board today, as being ready for military service in the national army. The twenty-fourth ward certified the largest number, their list totaling 83. The smallest list was received from the fifteenth ward, whose report was one man ready for service.

Owing to the large amount of clerical work to be worked out, the Board held a brief session this morning at which they approved the following claims for exemption: Arthur M. Bremer, 4407 Evans avenue, dependent wife; and Edward T. Venuto, 533 North Spring avenue, dependent mother. The claim of Charles E. Driver, Eureka, Mo., was rejected.

Mental Debility Claim Fails.

A claim for exemption, made yesterday to the District Board by Alfred H. Sayers of the Warwick Hotel on the ground of "mental debility," was denied despite the fact that the allegation concerning his mental condition was supported by Congressman Meeker and several attorneys.

Sayers a few years ago inherited $100,000 from the estate of his father, Henry Sayers. Last June he married Anna McLoney of 4334 Washington boulevard, but she obtained a divorce in a few weeks. Sayers has been regarded as eccentric by his friends.

SYBIL BROWN HERE TO TELL ABOUT CUMMINS

Companion of Burglar Frank Will Go Before Grand Jury Today.

Sybil Brown, companion of George Frank, burglar convict, during his apartment robberies in St. Louis which he detailed to the grand jury yesterday and Monday in telling of his relations with Ray Cummins, former secretary of the Police Relief Association, arrived here this morning from Lansing, Mich., in custody of Assistant Circuit Attorney Russell. She was taken at once to the Circuit Attorney's office. There she was allowed to see Frank, and the two embraced affectionately. She was then taken before Assistant Circuit Attorney Baer, who began to question her about the relations of herself and Frank with Cummins when he was a patrolman walking a beat in the neighborhood of Grand avenue and Olive street. She will be taken before the grand jury this afternoon.

Although the result of the questioning of the woman by Baer was not made public, it is known that she again corroborated Frank's story by repeating all that she told a Post-Dispatch staff correspondent at Lansing and by going into even greater detail on many points. She apparently resolved to talk freely to the Prosecutor and hold back nothing.

It developed today that as a result of the testimony she is expected to give before the grand jury, there is a possibility of indictments for perjury being returned against some witnesses summoned in the case.

Patriotic Manual for Teachers.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Miss Ella Flagg Young, former superintendent of Chicago schools, left today for Washington, at the request of Secretary McAdoo, where she will undertake the editing of the "Patriotic Manual," a publication to be placed in the hands of school teachers.

Second Death in Camp Mills.

MINEOLA, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Private William Bloodworth, G company, 167th Alabama Infantry, died of pneumonia in the field hospital at Camp Mills yesterday. This is the second death in the camp since the "rainbow division" began to assemble here.

The board that alienists will be stationed at the national army cantonments and if Sayers is not mentally qualified to be a soldier he will be returned home.

The names of those examined yesterday in the national army draft will be found on page 9 of this edition.

STUDENT AVIATORS FLY AT SCOTT FIELD

Two Instructors Busy Taking Up Cadets in Flights Over Belleville Camp.

Two airplanes were in the air most of the time this morning at Scott Field, the new United States Army aviation school near Belleville. Instructors Couch and Jones each took up a student aviator on each trip, and six flights were made before 9:15 a. m.

There are now five machines assembled at the camp, of which only the two have thus far been used. All are of the standard make, no Curtiss machines having been received yet.

Cadets Who Are at Scott Field.

The cadets now at Scott Field, who are candidates for the rank of First Lieutenant, Aviation Section, Officers' Reserve Corps, are:

Society's Temple of Style Opens in a Beautiful New Building Grand Reception Tomorrow

at the
New

Bedell

Fashion
Shop

Washington Avenue and Seventh Street

COME and enjoy it! Feast your eyes! It is an education in Autumn styles! The pages of Fashion magazines cannot compete with it in the lavish richness, the wonderful variety of its fashions.

In a new, brilliantly appointed, bijou Style Store of five floors, bristling with thousands of the stunning new things which Paris and New York have prepared for Autumn wear, St. Louis begins a new era of Women's Fashions Tomorrow.

At 10 o'clock in the morning, the new Bedell Fashion Shop throws open its doors for the first time at Washington Avenue and Seventh Street.

Every woman in the city—every woman from surrounding cities—is cordially invited to come as the special guest of the organization—to examine the new styles to her heart's content—to witness the greatest Fashion Show St. Louis has ever seen, and the gratifying scale of economy which this new wonderland of beautiful apparel opens to her.

The Nation's Dominant Thought---"Style Without Extravagance"

Here are all the present-moment Fall favorites of Fifth Avenue in New York---the styles of that great thoroughfare of Fashion at the exact moment they are being first shown there.

In every essential respect, this is a faithful replica of the famous Bedell Store in New York, located there, as here, in the very heart of the fashionable shopping district, and patronized by women of wealth and discrimination---enthusiastic converts to the doctrine of judicious economy.

This too, to be, henceforth, the St. Louis home of the nationalized Bedell idea of "Style Without Extravagance," which is sweeping triumphantly across the country.

With the headquarters of this tremendous organization at the very fountain-head of Fashion, from which every style impulse of the metropolis is flashed instantly through the great chain of Bedell Fashion Shops---producing the apparel of the moment for ten big stores in nine of the principal cities of the country, fashions and economies are effected which are impossible to single establishments and smaller organizations.

There are now similar Bedell Stores in New York, Brooklyn, Newark, Philadelphia, Boston, Pittsburgh, Rochester and Milwaukee---together forming the greatest buying power in the field of women's apparel.

No Goods Will Be Sold on Opening Day---The Exhibition Will Be Maintained One Day in Its Entirety

Tomorrow we wish you to come and be entertained as our guests---not as customers. It is the intention that every visitor shall have the opportunity to see this magnificent display in its entirety---before anything whatever is sold from it. See the beautiful Gowns, Coats, Frocks, Hats---the newest of the new! Examine them---compare them in your minds with prices you have known before! Then come the next day, or the day after, and purchase what you will!

All Records Passed in the Luxurious Displays of Autumn Suits, Coats, Dresses, Parisian Millinery and Bedell Beauty Waists

Parisian in every respect---perfect in every appointment---filled with refinements, yet brilliant with its Circassian walnut furnishings and its wealth of mirrors, this new Fashion Shop is unique in St. Louis.

Reception rooms, blouse boudoirs, beautiful floors replete with Autumn's limitless assortments of gowns, frocks, suits, coats, evening wraps, millinery---nothing in Paris is more complete.

The Correct New Silhouettes

Here you will see the new silhouettes, the wonderful Fall and Winter color effects, hats with just the correct new lines for the gowns and suits, blouses so fresh in their originality you will want to buy them at once.

New York's latest Autumn conception in suits, youthful in appearance, with clinging lines---straight skirts and trim-fitting coats, with the smoothest of shoulders and sleeves---in lustrous broadcloths, twills and serges---hundreds of new models you will want to see!

Morning Frocks, Afternoon Dresses and Evening Gowns---Autumn Coats for every occasion and every use, smarter than anything ever before presented.

Whether It Is $20 to $35 or $75 to $150

You will see that the "$20 Dress" and the "$25 Suit" have a new meaning in this city---qualities that you have associated with $40 and $50 prices; that for $50, suits, gowns and coats are available, which smaller organizations would regard as reasonable at $75 or more; while at $75 and $100, there are those magnificently exclusive creations for which the high-priced shops must ask fifty per cent more.

Every article shows the economy of big, organized, national effort in lowering cost to the minimum!

Celebrated Bedell System of "Alterations Without Charge" More Important Now Than Ever Before

The House of Bedell is the originator of the "Alterations Without Charge" system. It is in highly successful operation in every Bedell Shop, maintained by a national corps of artist fitters and tailors ranking with those of the highest-priced shops on the continent---THE PURCHASE PRICE CARRIES WITH IT A PERFECT FIT.

At a time when the whole country is being schooled in economy, this saving assumes GREATLY INCREASED IMPORTANCE. You get the same class of work here without charge as that for which houses of similar standing would charge from three to ten dollars.

BANKER WHO DIED IN JULY ACCUSED OF EMBEZZLEMENT

J. B. Martindale of Chemical National of New York Charged With Taking $300,000.

SHORTAGE MADE GOOD

Account of Wealthy Depositor Was Manipulated, Comptroller of Currency Says.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Comptroller of the Currency Williams has issued a statement asserting investigation had disclosed that the late J. B. Martindale, president of the Chemical National Bank of New York, who died in July last, was an embezzler and forger to the extent of about $300,000. The amount was taken, the Comptroller announced, from the account of a wealthy depositor and the bank had arranged to make good the entire sum. Capital and surplus of the bank, Williams said, were not impaired. The statement follows in part: "The suspicions of the bank's officers were aroused while Martindale was absent from the bank, ill in a hospital, shortly before his death, and the embezzlement was discovered as a result of an inquiry instituted by Vice President Twitchell, who was recently elected president of the bank to succeed Martindale. The money was not stolen directly from the bank, but was obtained by manipulating the deposit account of a wealthy depositor for whom Martindale acted as financial adviser and trusted agent.

"Under President Martindale's instructions the statements of this depositor's account were rendered by the bank periodically to Martindale, instead of direct to the depositor, and Martindale manipulated and changed them before submitting them to the depositor.

"This experience should serve as a warning to national banks that no irregularities, liberties or unbusinesslike methods or practices should be countenanced or permitted on the part of any officer or employee of a bank, however high his official position; and should serve as a warning also against laxity in the use of cashier's checks or charge slips.

"It appears that Martindale's embezzlements began about 16 years ago; and that for years past he has made it a practice to be on hand at the bank at the close of each month in order that he might personally look after and manipulate the statements rendered this particular depositor.

"Vacations Are Recommended. "More than a year ago the Comptroller's office, in calling upon national banks to furnish a list of employees who had been allowed no vacations in five years, said:

"Because most men are physically and mentally in shape to perform the duties most efficiently when they have the benefit of a yearly vacation and because of other obvious advantages, including the better opportunity afforded of having an impartial check made of the books and accounts of all employees while on vacation, besides the training given understudies and assistants, the Comptroller commends the granting of a vacation period to all bank employees each year.

"The experience of the Chemical National Bank lends fresh emphasis to this recommendation, and it is hoped it will be heeded by the banks."

Martindale Entered Employ of Bank at Age of 16.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The Comptroller's statement on the Martindale embezzlements caused surprise not alone because the Chemical National—for many years associated in the popular mind with Hettie Green—was the bank involved, but because Martindale was the officer concerned. At the bank Herbert K. Twitchell said:

"There is nothing to be said by any officer of the bank."

There was no one to speak for the Martindale family. The members are the banker's widow and two daughters, Mrs. Mary Parker and Miss Jean Martindale. Martindale spent all his business life in the service of the Chemical National. He was born in Brooklyn in 1862 and when he was 16 became a clerk in the bank. He was credit clerk when he was made an assistant cashier in 1902. Five years later he was made a vice president, and when in 1910 William H. Porter was called from the popular mind with Hettie Green to the bank involved, but because Martindale was the officer concerned. At the bank Herbert K. Twitchell said:

Martindale held a leading rank among business bankers. Because of this eminence he was chosen to serve with Frederick A. Julliard as receiver of the S. B. Clafin Co. when it failed in 1914. With J. Harper Poor he was chosen to serve in a similar capacity for Mills & Gibb when the financial difficulties of William T. Evans, its president, forced that firm into bankruptcy. In allowing the Mills & Gibb receivers $25,000 each, Federal Judge Mayer said:

"The work of the receivers was admirably done, showed business ability of a high order and exemplified what can be accomplished by capable management and complete co-operation."

TWO BRIDES-ELECT
RETURN FROM EAST

Both Mrs. Maude Moon O'Neil and Miss Dorothy Danforth to Wed in Autumn.

THE date of the wedding of Mrs. Maude Moon O'Neil to Edwin Wayne Lee, although not definitely decided upon, will probably be early in November. Mrs. O'Neil with her mother, returned Monday night from a visit of five weeks in New York. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Moon, of 3843 West Pine boulevard. Mr. Lee is a member of the Bellerive and Racquet Clubs. He is a graduate of Williams College and also Washington University and is a son of Mrs. Bradley D. Lee, of 4400 Washington boulevard and a brother of Wayne A. Lee.

Another bride-elect who has just returned from an extended trip is Miss Dorothy Danforth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Danforth, of 17 Kingsbury place. Miss Danforth's engagement to Randolph P. Compton was announced last spring and it is expected that she will be one of the early autumn brides, although the date has not yet been made known. Mr. Compton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Compton, of 18 Kingsbury place, and a Princeton graduate, class of '15.

Miss Danforth, with her mother, returned last week from Canada and the East, where they spent the entire summer.

Social Items

Mr. and Mrs. C. Norman Jones and their children of 4638 Berlin avenue returned Sunday night from Westonsburg, where they spent the summer at their cottage.

UNWRITTEN LAW PLEA WINS
FOR FIRST TIME IN LONDON

Lieut. Malcolm Told Jury He Killed Man in "Defense of Wife's Honor."

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Lieut. Douglas Malcolm, who was being tried for the murder of Anton Baumburg, a pseudo Count, was found not guilty by a jury at the Old Bailey Police Court yesterday.

The case, which had been characterized as a "dream of passion," was the first to be tried here in which the "unwritten law" was the sole defense.

A coroner's jury had returned a verdict of "justifiable homicide" after hearing Lieut. Malcolm's plea that he had killed Baumburg "in defense of his wife's honor." The case was one of the most sensational in London in many years.

PROSECUTOR FINDS LARGENY EVIDENCE IN KING ESTATE

Announces Discoveries Warranting Indictment After Looking Over Means' Papers.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Assistant District Attorney Dooling, who is in charge of the investigation here into the death of Mrs. Maude A.
King, at Concord, N. C., announced today that after an all-night examination of papers and correspondence belonging to Gaston B. Means he had found sufficient evidence to warrant indictments for grand larceny against one or more persons for alleged looting of the King estate.

The Assistant Prosecutor said he had found in Means' effects a paper upon which was an agreement whereby Means was to receive $950,000 in case the new will of Mrs. King's husband, which is now up for probate, got through successfully.

Means was business manager for
Mrs. King and was witness of her death on Aug. 29 by a pistol shot.
Dooling was accompanied by the criminal courts building from Means' apartment here by Afton Means, brother of Gaston, and by law, who were expected to go before the grand jury today.

Brother Came for Papers.
Dooling said Afton Means had told him he had come to New York for the trunk filled with correspondence and papers which was in Gaston
Means' apartment.

The trunk contained among other documents, he said, papers which showed a great amount of work had been done by experienced hands in preparing for a possible contest of the new will.

The Assistant District Attorney stated there was considerable evidence showing how $1,000,000 of the King estate had been spent. There were packages of checks drawn to a person whose name he withheld and a number of letters from brokers asking additional margin.

There was also a bankbook of a certain national bank in this city, he said, which showed deposits in one year of $190,000, all of which had been checked out.

Afton Means on arriving at the Criminal Courts sent a telegram to his brother at Concord telling him of the seizure of the papers.

Search for Her Property.
Representatives of Mrs. Robinson, aged mother of Mrs. King, reached the city to care for her legal interests, to search for any property of hers that may be left in New York and to give District Attorney
Swan information regarded by him as extremely important in connection with his investigation.

Lawyers representing Mrs. Robinson and co-operating with the official investigators said their investigation indicated that practically all of
Mrs. King's estate, estimated at $2,000,000, had been dissipated. One lawyer said that so far no property of Mrs. King's had been found in New York. Several banks in which she had previously kept accounts here have been located. In each the accounts had been closed out and not a penny remained to her credit.

Mrs. King's Will Filed for Probate;
All Property to Relatives.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—The will of Mrs. Maud A. King was filed for probate here yesterday by Attorney Americus Melville. The will was executed Nov. 18, 1915, when Mrs. King was the wife of a Dr. Chance. It bore the signature of Maud A.
Chance, and was witnessed by Henry and Marie T. Detschus, 908 Stebbins avenue, New York City.

Under the provisions of the will,
Mrs. Anna L. Robinson is given $400
a month for life and Paul Robinson, a brother, $25, the will explaining that he had received previous gifts from her. William G. Robinson, another brother, is given $25,000 and the remainder of the estate is left to Mrs. Mary G. Melvin, a sister.

It has been discovered that Mrs.
King made an affidavit declaring that Byron L. Smith, late president of the Northern Trust Co. of this city, had told her that the second King will had been destroyed. The affidavit, together with more than 200 pages of typewritten matter purporting to demonstrate the genuineness of the "second will," is in the hands of Attorney Jacob Newman, in whose possession it was placed by Gaston
B. Means, Mrs. King's business advisor, who is alleged to have discovered the document about eight or nine months ago. Newman said he did not feel privileged to make public the text of Mrs. King's affidavit.

GIRL ASKS FOR PAROLE FOR MAN SO THAT SHE MAY MARRY HIM

Thinks Prisoner Who Pleaded Guilty to Charge of Attempt to Rob Would Reform.

Miss Marie McArthur, 20 years old, a clerk, who said her home was in Chicago, called at the Circuit Attorney's office today and asked for a parole for Earl Hunter, 26 years old, under sentence of three years in the penitentiary for attempted robbery, so that she may marry him.

She said she had known Hunter for four years and that she is sure he would reform under the proper influences.
Hunter is now in the city jail.
With a companion he was charged with attempting to hold up and rob three men last June. Both pleaded guilty. The Circuit Attorney told the girl he could not take any action in the case until the return of Judge Falkenhainer, who sentenced the youths, from his vacation. The girl said she would remain in St. Louis.

How to Stop Loss of Hair and Start New Growth

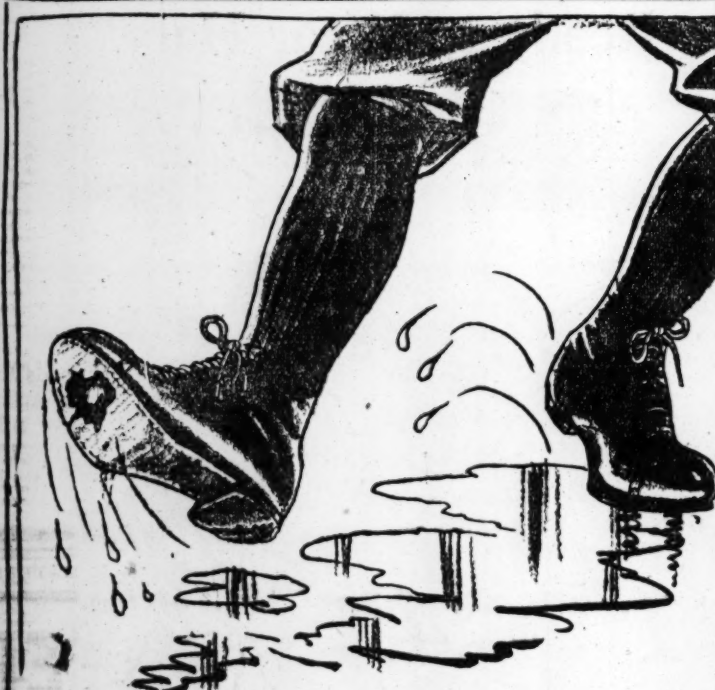

Easy Way to Make Hair Grow Thick and Lustrous on Thin Spots

Beautiful Hair and Lots of It—If You Use Parisian Sage

If your hair is thinning out, prematurely gray, brittle, lifeless, full of dandruff and your head itches like mad it's a pretty sure sign the dangerous dandruff germ is busy on your scalp and quick action must be taken to save what hair you have and start a new growth. Don't wait until the hair root is dead, for then nothing can help you, but get from your druggist about four ounces of Parisian sage and apply as directed—it don't cost much and there is nothing you could use that's any better. It was Dr. Sangerbund, the famous Paris specialist, who discovered that dandruff and falling hair are caused by a microbe—then came the discovery of the value of the genuine Parisian sage (liquid form) to destroy this germ and prevent further loss of hair and the formation of dandruff. You will surely be delighted with the first application, for your hair will be bright-looking, all itching ceases and your scalp feels cool and comfortable. A few massages with Parisian sage are all that are usually needed to destroy the germs that cause dandruff to form, and very soon you should be able to see the new hairs coming in. Parisian sage is a favorite dressing with discriminating women because it is delicately perfumed, does not stain or streak the hair and makes it lustrous, soft and fluffy. Be sure you get Parisian sage (Giroux's), for this brand has the guarantee of perfect satisfaction or money returned printed on every package.—ADVERTISEMENT.

ATTEMPT TO AVERT CIVIL WAR MADE BY MILIUKOFF

Former Minister Offered to Act as Mediator With Korniloff, Was Turned Down.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 12.—An abortive attempt to prevent civil war was made by Prof. Paul N. Miliukoff, leader of the Constitutional Democrats, former Foreign Minister, and one of the prime movers in the revolution. He first offered by telephone his services as intermediary with Gen. Korniloff and later held a personal conference with Premier Kerensky, at which Gen. Alexieff, former Commander in Chief of the Russian armies, was present.

M. Miliukoff related that a few days ago Korniloff invited him to come to his headquarters, but that Miliukoff refused to do so. Miliukoff said he proposed that he go to headquarters with authority from the Government to negotiate peace between the factions. M. Kerensky, however, declared that no reconciliation was possible and received the backing of other members of the Government in his demand for the unconditional surrender of Korniloff.

Gen. Alexieff, after the conference, issued a statement to the press in which he said he intended taking no official position or any action in the present situation. He added that he regarded himself as a private individual and outside the conflict.

People Ignorant of Revolt.

The mass of Petrograd's population knew nothing of Gen. Korniloff's revolt until Monday, when the newspapers, contrary to their Monday custom, published morning editions.

The population of Moscow was also ignorant as to the revolt, but the Council of Deputies there heard of it Saturday night and the next day declared itself in permanent session. The council, in accord with the local military and executive authorities, took special measures against counter-revolutionary manifestations.

In this connection the Council of Deputies declares that Gen. Verkhovsky was recently summoned to headquarters at Mohilev by Gen. Korniloff, who expounded the details of the plot and invited the General to join. On his giving a categorical refusal, Gen. Korniloff threatened to arrest him, to which threat Gen. Verkhovsky responded: "If I am not allowed to return immediately, all the railroad officials on the lines connecting Mohilev with Moscow will declare a strike, thus cutting you off from the rest of Russia."

Thereupon, in account states, Gen. Verkhovsky was allowed to go.

The interior of the Winter Palace was a remarkable sight owing to the extraordinary precautions which first were taken when hope of a compromise was lost finally. Inside the newly erected partition in the grand corridor, and outside M. Kerensky's office, were stationed 200 sailors of the second Baltic corps. During the afternoon students of the school of marines were brought into the palace, as well as parts of the Preobrazhensky and Litovsk regiments, while in the court yards were armed motor cars. Elsewhere in the city there was little military show, but all through the night posts of five and six infantrymen paraded the streets and occupied the court yards. The city so far has been quiet.

Premier Denounces Korniloff.

All through the night M. Kerensky received resolutions from army and navy units promising to support him. The Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates sent telegrams to the telegraph operators' union declaring that the operators by refusing to work for Korniloff could help to crush the revolt.

Premier Kerensky issued an order to the Petrograd garrison denouncing Gen. Korniloff for opening the front to the Germans and for sending a division of Asiatics against the capital.

Gen. Kozmin, commanding the Petrograd city garrison, declared before the meeting in the Winter Palace of the representatives of different organizations: "No negotiations are possible with traitors. Our only future conversation will be carried on through cannon."

"Only bayonets can now decide the conflict," was the declaration of Vice Premier Nekrasoff.

While the Cabinet were debating the form the new Government should assume, the Central Executive Committee of the All-Russian Councils of Deputies held an excited session at which the determination to support the Kerensky government was unanimously expressed. Speeches were delivered in behalf of all the parties represented and resolutions as to necessary measures were passed.

Vote to Retain Government.

The committee accepted unanimously the proposal of the social revolutionaries to retain the present form of government, replacing the constitutional democrats with more democratic elements. The plan to create a directory was then vetoed by a large majority.

M. Tchideze, President of the Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' deputies, thereupon went to the Winter Palace and reported the resolutions to Premier Kerensky.

The Finance Minister, M. Nekrasoff, endeavored Monday afternoon and evening to enter into negotiations with the adherents of Gen. Korniloff by wire but without result.

Your Way's Right

You don't meet antagonism, or argument, or indifference, when you want to have your way at a Hotel Statler.

A cardinal principle of Statler policy is that "the guest is always right"—and every employee's job depends upon his living up to that policy in the service he renders every patron.

Courtesy, graciousness, cheerfulness and a real interest in what the patron wants are outstanding points of that service that we call Statler Service—and any time you don't get those things in a Hotel Statler the manager wants to know about it right away. He can't be everywhere at once, and he has to depend upon humanly-rendered service, but he'll always see that our promises are kept.

Medicated Smoke Drives Out Catarrh

Costs But Little to Try.
Try This Pleasant Herb Smoke.

Dr. Blosser, who has devoted forty-three years to the treatment of Catarrh, is the originator of a certain combination of medicinal herbs, flowers and berries to be smoked in a pipe or ready prepared cigarette. The smoke-vapor reaches all the air passages of the head, nose and throat. As the disease is carried into these passages with the air you breathe, so the antiseptic, healing vapor of this Remedy is carried with the breath directly to the affected parts.

This simple, practical method applies the medicine where sprays, douches, ointments, etc., cannot possibly go. Its effect is soothing and healing, and is entirely harmless, containing no tobacco or habit-forming drugs. It is pleasant to use, and not sickening to those who have never smoked. No matter how severe or long standing your case may be, we want to show you what our Remedy will do.

To prove the beneficial, pleasant effect, a liberal trial outfit will be mailed for ten cents to any sufferer, that will verify all claims by actual tests. THEATRICAL WANTS

It is a matter of comment in the theatrical profession that the Post-Dispatch prints a more complete theatrical want column than any other daily newspaper in the United States. No other St. Louis newspaper is in the same class in this respect. The Post-Dispatch Theatrical want column is consulted by the local profession no less carefully than by hundreds of traveling troupes and the managers of playhouses throughout the Southwestern. It carries an excellent series of communication—especially Sundays—with a class to whom your proposals may appeal.

15 ENLIST IN NEW BRITISH RECRUITING OFFICE IN 2 DAYS

St. Louisan Who Served in South African War Is First Man to Join.

Up to noon today 15 men had been enlisted by the British recruiting office which was opened yesterday at 302 North Sixth street. There are 800 British subjects of military age in St. Louis and vicinity and Capt. Charles Dolphin, recruiting officer expects that 400 of these will enlist.

The men will be sent to training camps in Canada where they will spend four months before being sent overseas. The first recruit was Wilfred Holmes of 4631 Idaho avenue, who served as a First Lieutenant with Lumsden's Horse during the South African war. Lumsden's Horse was a volunteer regiment of British Colonial scouts and was made up largely of residents of India.

In 1905 Holmes resigned from the army because he could not stand the financial strain of keeping up his position. He joined the Baden-Powell police in South Africa, but after a few years came to America. He has been in the employ of the Anheuser-Busch brewery for seven years. Holmes expects to get a commission after he arrives in England.

Capt. Dolphin is from Montreal, Canada. He is 28 years old and before the war was an architect. He enlisted as a private in the Canadian overseas contingent in October, 1914, and during his 11 months in France fought at St. Eloi, Messines Ridge and at Hill 60 in the Ypres salient. He has been "over the top" four times in daylight attacks, and was commissioned for conspicuous bravery.

In 1916 he was invalided home, suffering from shell shock. After recovering he went to England and joined the Royal Flying Corps, but later was relieved from this arm of the service for recruiting duty in Canada and the United States.

Capt. Dolphin said he did his best fighting as sergeant of a company of snipers which patrolled "No Man's Land" at night. Black uniforms were worn on these occasions and the men blackened their faces and hands with burnt cork to be invisible to the enemy in the darkness. They would spend the night between the lines, crawling around, to prevent surprise attacks.

"The Germans have no stomach for this kind of work or for any individual display of courage," said Capt. Dolphin. "They are systematic machine fighters and no more, and shrink from hand-to-hand combat. In close places they become children again and cry for mercy."

When Capt. Dolphin was injured by shell shock, he says, he was carrying a comrade, who had gone mad from a wound and dashed into No Man's Land, back to the trench when a shell exploded behind him and blew his comrade to bits. The next Capt. Dolphin knew he was in a London hospital.

Sergt. Effe of Winnipeg, who also has seen service in France, will assist Capt. Dolphin in the recruiting campaign. Those who enlist will be sent at once to Canada and thence to France, after a brief period of intensive training.

Improvements and Enlargements at the Kline Store.

Sol and E. B. Kline of New York, proprietors of the Kline Apparel Co., which operates stores in St. Louis, Detroit, Cincinnati and Kansas City, are in St. Louis to inspect the improvements at their local store, particularly the enlargement of the dress department, which has been finished along modern lines.

The Kline's local store was established 15 years ago and has grown to occupy 500,000 square feet of floor space. Recently the Klines expended a great sum of money in improvement of the store, notably on the dress department. Besides the general beauty of the decorative scheme, every convenience is presented for comfort of shoppers.

E. B. Kline, who is in charge of the firm's New York office, is assisted by 12 resident buyers who make a distinctive feature of trying to anticipate the public's needs and keeping constantly in touch with the new things the market affords. He is responsible for the latest improvements in the local store which parallel in beauty and modern some of the newest eastern stores for women.

The firm concentrates its efforts on and attributes its success to skilled perception and keen buying.

CORRECTED REPORT SAYS ONE U-BOAT, AND NOT SIX, WAS SUNK

Typographical Error in Transcribing Dispatch to Navy Department Resulted in False Statement.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—A typographical error in transcribing a statement for the press yesterday from an official report to the Navy Department made it appear that six German submarines probably had been sunk off the French coast when they attacked a fleet of merchantmen, including at least one American vessel. The facts are, so far as is known, that one submarine was probably destroyed and two of the steamers were down. A corrected statement was issued by Secretary Daniels as soon as the error was discovered.

Gillette U.S. Service Set

It Fits the Kit or the Pocket

Something Special for Our Boys

There is little enough one can do for the brave fellows who are going to the Front—few things one can give them to take along. A soldier's kit is reduced to the bare necessities: most gifts have to be left behind.

But here is something that is a prime necessity to every man in every branch of the Service. The U. S. Regulations call for a clean shave—every man jack must have a shaving outfit.

The new Gillette U. S. Service Set represents three years' War experience, condensed into one compact little metal case—that fits the kit or slips into the breast pocket.

The solid metal case is heavily nickel-plated and embossed with the Insignia of the U. S. Army and Navy. There is a nickel-plated Gillette Safety Razor and Blade Box, with an indestructible Trench Mirror inside the lid.

No Strops or Hones. Nothing to carry but the compact little case, and new Blades can be had anywhere in France, England, Russia and Italy.

GROCERS CONFER ON FOOD PRICES

Measures Designed to Cut Cost to Public Are Discussed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Measures designed to cut retail food prices were discussed with the food administration yesterday by representatives of all branches of the retail grocery trade. A committee was named to work out plans by which distributing houses may render more efficient service to the public.

A licensing system for all grocery stores doing a business of more than $100,000 annually was suggested by representatives of the trade. It is likely, it is said, that this proposal will be adopted by the food administration.

Red Crown Gasoline

Contains Energy Plus

Its chain of boiling point fractions commences at 95 degrees Fahrenheit and continues above 400 degrees Fahrenheit, each fraction vaporizing at a different temperature.

Under ordinary driving conditions, the heat at the head of the cylinder will register from 800 to 1000 degrees Fahrenheit. This is more than double the heat necessary to burn even the heaviest ends of this very high-grade gasoline. There isn't a particle of waste—every atom is burned and converted into energy.

Neither is there any waste in the piston stroke, as there is when high-test gasoline is used. For Red Crown produces that useful working stroke of the piston—making smooth, rhythmic power.

High-test gasolines impart a violent slam to the piston at the commencement of the stroke, but falls away just as quickly as the stroke progresses making not only jerky power but a racked engine.

CITY COUNCIL SAYS PRO-GERMANS ARE AGAINST MOLLMAN

Resolution. Defending Indicted Mayor Raises an Issue of Americanism.

An issue of Americanism was raised between the East St. Louis city administration and the recent St. Clair County Grand Jury, in the resolution adopted at last night's meeting of the City Council, defending Mayor Mollman against the charges made against him in the indictment returned at Belleville Saturday. The indictment charged malfeasance in office, in that the Mayor failed to take effective measures to check the race riot of July 2.

The grand jury, in its report, said it hoped that, as the result of its efforts, "the great industries of East St. Louis, which are contributing so largely of necessary articles to conduct the great war in which we are now engaged, will be able to proceed with safety and efficiency."

Notwithstanding this expression of practical loyalty, the grand jury is accused by the East St. Louis Councilmen of having been responsive to pro-German influences in indicting the Mayor. The Council's resolution, which is addressed to the Mayor, speaks of his enemies, and says:

"No Bill Thompson." "We refer to the element who oppose your robust Americanism, the element who, because of your German name and ancestry, believe you should have a divided allegiance and should be careful lest in your conversation you might offend the so-called pro-German element living in this city and county. While your unqualified support of President Wilson has no doubt gained for you the hearty detestation of traitors, it has endeared you to the liberty-loving American people of the community. There is no 'Bill Thompson' occupying the Mayor's chair in East St. Louis."

The resolution declares that the accusations against Mollman also came from "the old gangsters and fixers who in the past were in control of this city, and who are responsible for the bankrupt condition of its finances." The terms "political degenerates," "human vampires" and "grease barrel politicians" are also used in this connection.

Mollman, the resolution declares, appealed to both the Sheriff and the Governor for measures to suppress the riot. His appeal to Gov. Lowden to declare martial law, and the Governor's refusal, on the ground that the militia had the situation in hand, were also cited. It pointed out that Mollman has been charged both with inviting negroes to come to East St. Louis from the South, and with helping to drive them out, and said both charges were false.

Cites His Re-Election. "Someone blundered, someone is to blame," the resolution said, "but that someone is not the Mayor. Mr. Mayor, we are proud of you and of your conduct of the affairs of the city." The resolution then goes on to cite the vote by which Mollman was re-elected in April as a proof of public confidence.

Maurice Ahearn, the Mayor's secretary, was included by name in the Council's indorsement. The grand jury indicted him on a charge of conspiracy with the rioters, the charge being that he ordered the police to arrest photographers and destroy their cameras or plates, thus preventing the taking of photographs and moving pictures which could be used to convict the rioters.

One of the 16 members of the Council, Gerhard Kneewitz, refused to sign the resolution. He was not elected, as the 15 others were, on the ticket with Mollman. Later he said the resolution did not express his sentiments, and he could not conscientiously sign it. He did not know who was its author, but said Alderman Herbert King asked him to sign it.

Mayor Mollman Weeps. Mollman, in addressing the Council, wept and referred to his mother, nearly 75 years old, saying he should have been spared for her sake, and that he feared the shock of the indictment would break her heart. He referred to the grand jury's recommendation that he be urged to resign, and to the request of the Ministers' Alliance that he resign, and said he would disregard all such suggestions. If the Council had asked him to resign, he said, he would have done so.

D. Jerry Sullivan, City Corporation Counsel, also spoke in defense of Mollman. He assailed Attorney-General Brundage and his assistants who directed the grand jury's work, and said the ministers were "dupes and tools, who think everybody else is as simple as they are." He said "a little preacher, who was brave enough before the grand jury, was not very brave on the day of the riot or he would have tried to stop it." He appeared to be alluding to the Rev. George W. Allison, pastor of the First Baptist Church, who has been a leader in the inquiry into liquor violations in St. Clair County.

House Committee Named to Investigate Race Riots

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—A select committee of five members of the House of Representatives has been named by Speaker Clark to conduct a congressional inquiry into the race riots at East St. Louis. The resolution of Representative L. C. Dyer of St. Louis, providing for the investigation, was passed by unanimous vote. The committee includes Representatives Ben Johnson of Kentucky, John E. Baker of California and Martin D. Foster of Illinois, Democrats, and Henry A. Cooper of Wisconsin and George E. Foss of Illinois, Republicans.

SLEEPING FIREMEN AWAKENED TO FIGHT FLAMES NEXT DOOR

Police Estimate the Total Damage at $11,500.

The firemen at No. 12 engine house, 812 North Seventh street, were sleeping at 4:50 o'clock this morning when someone knocked at the front door and told them there was a fire next door. They found the two-story building at 808 and 810 occupied by the Globe Fixture Co., dealers in secondhand store and office fixtures, in flames, which spread so rapidly that, to save the engine house, a second alarm was sounded 20 minutes later.

The police reported that the Globe company's stock was destroyed, and that it was worth $8000. Nathan Bloom of 2826 Stoddard street, head of the company, said he had an $18,000 stock and estimated the damage at $12,000, with no insurance. The police estimated the damage to the building at $3500. Jacob Gates of 4202 McPherson avenue, the owner, said there was no insurance.

The cause of the fire is not known. It appeared to have started in the rear of the second floor. Some damage was done to the sleeping quarters of the firemen.

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER OPPOSES PAYING SEWER BILL

Frank X. Hiemenz Votes Against Recommendation of Attorney.

RECENTLY BROUGHT SUIT

Sought to Enjoin Board From Paying Special Tax for Mill Creek Work.

The recommendation of John M. Goodwin, acting attorney for the Board of Education, for the payment of a special tax bill for $4601.23 levied against the Grover Cleveland High School for the construction of the Glaise Creek District sewer, was vigorously opposed at the board meeting last night by Frank X. Hiemenz, a member.

Hiemenz declared the board was not legally required to pay the tax and contended it had no more right to pay such bills than to contribute money to charities. The payment of the bill, he declared, would amount to a diversion of the board's funds.

Hiemenz recently brought suit in the Circuit Court to enjoin the board from paying $27,995.75 in taxes levied against the board by the city for the construction of the Mill Creek sewer. In this suit he contended school property was exempt from general and special taxes. Judge Hennings, but the Court declined to grant the injunction and dismissed the suit. Hiemenz appealed to the Supreme Court, where the case is now pending.

Must Pay to Use Sewers. Judge Hennings, in his decision, pointed out that while Hiemenz's contention was correct, there is an ordinance prohibiting any owner of property from connecting with a district sewer unless his share of the special tax has been paid and that to avail themselves of the use of the sewers the school would have to pay such taxes.

In his opposition to the payment of the tax bill recommended by Goodwin, Hiemenz declared the board at least should hold the matter in abeyance until the decision of the Supreme Court. Three members of the board joined with him in a vote against the payment of the bill, while eight voted to approve Goodwin's recommendation.

Goodwin, who is serving as the board's attorney in the absence of the regularly elected attorney, Robert A. Burkhart, a Lieutenant in the officers' Reserve Corps, who has gone to France, is associated in the same law offices with Burkhart and Elize G. Burkhart, a brother of Robert A. Burkhart.

Hiemenz threatened to sell the tax bill recommended for payment by Goodwin is payable to the Moreno-Burkhart Construction Co., composed of Charles A. Moreno and Elize G. Burkhart, a brother of Robert A. Burkhart.

Hiemenz declared today that if the bill is paid and he is later sustained by the Supreme Court in his contention as to such bills, he personally will bring suit against the various board members who voted for the payment of the bill to recover the amount for the board.

ST. LOUISAN GIVES $2500 FOR SCHOOL DENTAL CLINIC

Yearly Contribution to Aid Free Care and Instruction About the Children's Teeth.

Superintendent of Instruction with the school board has received an offer from a St. Louisan to give $2500 annually for the support of a free dental clinic for school children. His recommendation that the offer be accepted and a clinic established in Central High School was approved last night by the Board of Education.

The work will be begun immediately. It will be conducted under the supervision of the St. Louis Dental Society. A dentist will be regularly employed, assisted by students of the two local dental colleges, selected by the dental society, who will serve without pay. A nurse also will be employed.

DETECTIVE WEDS GIRL WHO ASSISTED HIM IN RAID

Miss Walsh Convinced Thief of Beer in Muff as Evidence for Sergeant J. P. Houch.

The identity of the girl who concealed a bottle of beer in her muff when Walsh's cafe at King's highway and Delmar boulevard, was raided March 24, last, and turned it over to the raiding officers as evidence to support their contention that Walsh's license should be revoked, was revealed for the first time to the public this morning when Detective Sergeant John P. Houch, who conducted the raid, made her his bride. She was Miss Mary Walsh of 4668 Easton avenue.

Walsh's license was revoked on the evidence gathered by Miss Walsh. The cafe has since reopened under a license granted to another man.

For a Fair Street Railway Settlement

Elements of the Proposed $60,000,000 Valuation

In our first advertisement we promised to tell you what elements make up the $60,000,000 valuation established by the City Government in its street railway settlement ordinance as the purchase price of the St. Louis street railway system.

That valuation, as we stated in a later advertisement, is a physical property valuation, and a very low one, covering a 450-mile railway system, with 1400 cars, millions of dollars worth of real estate, many costly buildings and a great deal of other property, employing 6,000 persons and providing transportation for close to 1,000,000 people over an area, in City and County, of more than 200 square miles.

Here are the elements of cost which it covers:

First—The cost of land for building sites, private rights of way, yards and other uses.

Second—The factory and freight cost of cars, rails, wire and the thousand and one other items of material equipment.

Third—The cost of engineering, supervision and labor employed to plan the system and assemble its parts into an operative whole.

Fourth—The cost of capital used in buying lands and equipment; in employing skilled and unskilled labor to plan and assemble the property; in paying commissions to bankers and brokers for procuring the capital.

Fifth—Legal and court costs during the construction period.

Sixth—The cost of taxes and insurance during the construction period and prior to the time when the property began earning its own way.

Seventh—The cost of contingencies unforeseen by the planners but requiring to be met and paid for by the owners during the construction, over a period of years, of a great public utility property.

These are all actual and unavoidable parts of the cost of creating a physical plant ready for use. Each of these costs must be incurred in order that the property may be created, whether the work be done by a company or by a municipality. They are all therefore properly classified as physical property costs.

These physical property costs are all recognized by courts and State Public Service Commissions, and the percentage of the whole plant cost which should be allowed for each of these parts has been established by these authorities in repeated decisions based on the practical experience of utility companies throughout the United States.

These costs, and these only, the City's consulting engineer included in his $60,000,000 valuation, and this figure the City Government adopted in its ordinance as the purchase price, over the Company's protest that the true capital value of its property is $77,000,000.

The City's expert allowed nothing for going business value. He allowed nothing for the heavy cost of consolidating many lines into one all-city system with universal transfers. He even excluded some $3,000,000 of physical property value in still useful equipment which the Company had to scrap in order to keep pace with the public demand for the latest type of equipment, and he adopted values for many items of physical property which we regard as very much too low. He excluded, in the total, $17,000,000 of actual outlay which our own consulting engineer listed as a proper part of our capital value.

These facts are a complete answer to citizens who in print and out of it have without knowledge or authority charged that the City's $60,000,000 valuation of the street railways includes a large percentage of "water," or intangible values.

The United Railways Company of St. Louis

We Can Radiumize Your Watch!!

Another triumph for Famous & Barr Co.

So that you can distinguish the time in the dark as well as in the light.

The new discovery of the genuine Radium Solution has swept the world. The European war developed this invention, and now most everyone wants a radium dial in order that the numerals can be distinguished in the dark. This process has just been developed so that an artist can apply it to any dial; and Famous and Barr Co. has perfected arrangements to do this work.

Beginning tomorrow we will give a practical demonstration to show how your watch can be radiumized. This is past the problematic stage and is practical. The work will be artistically done while you wait.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

When the Hessians Came.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Former Ambassador Gerard states in his notes from Germany in yesterday's issue of the Post-Dispatch that "the Princess of Nassau, Anspach and Hesse, at the time of revolution, sold their unfortunate subjects to the British Government to be exported to fight the Americans." Now, none of these "unfortunate" subjects came from Nassau, which fact I like to emphasize because I am glad that this disgrace was kept from the soil where my cradle stood. Nassau was later annexed by the Prussians and its inhabitants are called today Forced Prussians (Muss-Preussen). But the province of Hesse-Kassel is next to Nassau and there it is where this disgraceful sale of human flesh was done. William the Ninth, Landgrave of Hesse-Kassel, loaned first to one George the Third of England 12,000 of his soldiers. They did not know anything about the details of this deal between Hesse and England, but were told that the Americans they were going to fight were savages who had arisen against their masters, and were massacring women and children. To stop this bloodshed was for humanity's sake.

Let it be stated that these Hessian soldiers were not sent to America against their will. They voted by regiments and were given liberal pay. The money came so easily to this Landgrave of Hesse that he sent another contingent in 1794, and after three years still another one, but this time it was sent to America against the will of the soldiers. Edmund Burke said, and received in all over 2,000,000 thalers, which was a very large sum for those days. The Hessians had to suffer for it. Today they have the surname, blind, because they could not see what they were doing in the epoch of history. Edmund Burke said, when he heard they were coming: "We welcome these hired assassins with bloody hands to hospitable graves."

Progress.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The bull that stands upon a railroad track thinking that it can mope up a flying express is not more bull-headed than is the individual who insists that the press is of no moment, that writers are of no account, etc. If the press is of no moment, then why, in some instances, it prohibited the mail, and in other instances, its news deleted?

SIDNEY AVERILL.

Grafting on Our Soldiers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Knowing that the Post-Dispatch has always advocated fair play, I feel that through the columns of your excellent paper you may see me start a movement to correct a most deplorable condition existing in cities and towns where our military cantonments and camps are located.

In Montgomery, Ala., where 40,000 soldiers will be in training, I know of an instance where an officer is paying $40 a month for a bungler that stood empty at $25 a month. Last year, while the soldiers were on the border, prices in restaurants and soda fountains doubled overnight. Grafting of soldiers is a most unpatriotic means of "swelling" one's bank account and should be stopped immediately.

A Federal investigation where cantonments and camps are located would reveal enough information to warrant the passage of a bill by Congress to stop this malpractice. Let us look after the interests of our soldiers who have come a way to fight for us, and demand that they get fair play.

J. W. R.

A New American Exile.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Allow me to express my appreciation of the great opportunity given me to become an American citizen, a citizenship that is proud of, incomparable in liberty and freedom. I was among the fortunate to be granted final citizenship papers on Sept. 7, having immigrated from Austria in 1897 and having during these intervening years considered myself an American, but as a matter of fact, was still a subject of Austria. I want to be very thankful to this country for accepting me as a citizen of this great nation, whose chief aim is liberty and freedom of the people. It affords me great pleasure to think that I am now under the full protection of the Stars and Stripes and no longer a subject of Austria, which, in conjunction with Germany, broke all laws of warfare and disregarded other nations' rights. I appeal to all of foreign birth to be most loyal to this country and honor it at all times.

FRANK HUBAUER.

CAN RUSSIA BE MEXICANIZED?

No other news during the next few days of anxiety can compare in interest with news from Russia. Events there hold the breathless attention of the world.

We may see presently what sort of a showing the republican troops, who fight Germans with only indifferent success, can make fighting one another. Gen. Korniloff is marching on Petrograd and has given orders that it shall be besieged. A collision is already reported between small Korniloff and Kerensky commands.

The Kaiser strove to master the new republic through intrigue and bribes and plots, and failed. He strove to master it through force of arms and fell short of a decision while acquiring new difficulties with Galicia's recovery and Riga's capture. With every mile of new territory taken, lines of communication are lengthened in the face of the approaching Russian winter and new burdens added in administering and guarding the gains.

But if Russians themselves in large masses could be made to assail the republic through organized intrigue and bribes and plots, what a tremendous improvement it would give to German prospects!

How immeasurably superior to all other plans for German mastery would be a plan to set Russians in large masses to fighting for the Kaiser against other Russians.

Could anything have worked out more wondrously for the enheartening of Germans in their present desperate need than this Korniloff revolt? Considering that what has come about is exactly that which the Kaiser must desire most of all things, is it believable for a moment that it has come about fortuitously or without an initiative other than that of Korniloff and his colleagues themselves?

The exalted patriotisms they profess will not prevent the gravest suspicions of treachery from attaching to those who destroy in factional strife the resources that would give Russia freedom forever if employed unitedly against the common enemy.

We have thought of the Russian revolution as one perpetuating the ideals while avoiding the excesses of the French revolution. We have classed it with our own struggle upward to freedom. Is it to fall to the level of a Latin-American revolution disgraced by frightful contests between leaders to seize the chief power?

Of the Mexican civil wars of 1911-16, it has always been possible to assume that had the country been threatened with attack from without, the turbulent chiefs would have subordinated their differences until the foreign foe had been overcome.

Is Russia to be Mexicanized and plunged into a series of bloody convulsions the more tremendous and tragic than anything known on this continent in proportion as the Russians exceed the Mexicans in numbers, capacity and resources?

UNWRITTEN LAW IN ENGLAND.

The acquittal of Lieut. Malcolm by a British jury which tried him for the murder of the man who had wrecked his home, is the second recent case of the sort in English jurisprudence, and a reminder that, after all, human nature is pretty much the same the world over. As a rule, murder is murder and nothing else in the British courts and the so-called unwritten law does not operate to save the slayer. But, in this case, the husband's wrath was so righteous that the jury could not distinguish between it and its dramatic consequences.

The slain man was a cur and a villain who had no scruples against betraying a woman's honor, but who would not defend himself from physical chastisement or even fight to save his own life. If he had shown a trace of manhood in his bearing towards the man he wronged things probably would have gone differently with his slayer. But not even an English jury—and the English jury system is organized to convict, not acquit—would punish a man for destroying such an arrogant poltroon.

To what extent will the case serve as a precedent in other trials of a similar nature? At least it ought to have a salutary effect both at home and abroad upon those who would invade households the heads of which are honorably away fighting for their country.

AS MAINE GOES, SO THE UNION.

Prominent among the explanations of why Maine refused to ratify the Legislature's woman's suffrage bill by the overwhelming ratio of 2 to 1 is that the action of the militants in picketing the White House and annoying the President in this time of war prejudiced male voters against the cause.

There can be no doubt that such militancy did have its effect, but this alone seems scarcely sufficient to account for the anti-suffrage majority. Maine has always been a conservative commonwealth. It has a big rural vote, and rural votes, as a rule, are usually the last to favor radical changes in established institutions.

The suffragists apparently had discounted the probability of defeat. Their pre-election statements were pessimistic. Some of them had been conducting an equal suffrage propaganda there for 20 years or more. Yet they refuse to be discouraged, notwithstanding that they failed to carry more than two cities when they were most hopeful of the city vote. They have already started a campaign for rebusmission.

Nevertheless the outlook for a growth of suffrage sentiment in the East does not appear very bright to the onlooker. The next test is to come on a constitutional amendment in New York at a special election Nov. 6. There the women have to overcome an adverse majority of 200,000 cast two years ago.

The conquest of New York would be a tremendous gain for their cause and would have important bearing upon the proposal for an equal suffrage amendment to the federal constitution. Unless they succeed in suppressing the militant sister at Washington by that time it is hard to see how they have even a remote chance to carry the Empire State.

PROPOSED PEACE REFERENDUM.

Pacifist newspapers and some Socialist leaders are urging a referendum on peace. Former Congressman Victor Berger says such a referendum could be based on President Wilson's answer to the Pope. He suggests that the Governments of the warring nations, including the United States, should enter into negotiations at once, their conclusions to be endorsed by a referendum in each of the countries interested.

These agitators, in harmony with their brethren, the German Government Socialists, would postpone the democratization of Germany until after the war, on the ground that within 30 years or so, Socialism and democracy will have made such headway in every country that peace and civilization will be assured for all.

It being a fight between an alliance of democratic nations and a gang of freebooters and murderers who have practiced all the tricks of the Father of Lies, we are asked to stop all our preparations, lay down our arms and leave that gang in full possession of its powers, in the hope that, some time within, say, 30 years, the German Socialists will have ceased to be a party of debaters and manifested the kind of courage that made Russian Socialists stand up to the machine guns of the Czar's police in Petrograd, in face of the fact that former revolutions started there had been swept away in the blood of their comrades.

There is one Socialist in Germany who has had the courage of his convictions—Liebknecht—and he is languishing behind the iron bars of the Prussian autocrat. The rest of the German Socialists are fighting the world's democracy tooth and nail. For three years they have stood shoulder to shoulder with the Junkers and have neither withheld appropriations nor men to bring about the full triumph of the worst autocracy the world has ever seen. Why should they ask for 30 years in which to show improvement? Why not a hundred?

We know the meaning of all this agitation. President Wilson voiced it in his Flag Day address, when he said that "the masters of Germany do not hesitate to use any agency that promises to effect their purposes, to deceive the nations. They are using men in Germany and without, as their spokesmen, whom they have hitherto oppressed, using them for their own destruction—Socialists, the leaders of labor, the thinkers they have hitherto sought to silence. Let them once succeed and the men now their tools, will be ground to powder beneath the weight of the great military empire they will set up; the revolution in Russia will be cut off from all succor or co-operation in Western Europe and a counter-revolution fostered and supported. Germany herself will lose her chance of freedom; and all Europe will arm for the next, the final, struggle."

WHERE GORDON GOT HIS COAL.

Ex-Auditor John P. Gordon complains of the injustice done him in reports of the State coal deals. He says that neither he nor his son got any of the coal. He adds that never, while in or out of office at Jefferson City has he got a pound of coal from the State coal bins.

The carload of 40 tons of coal delivered to Mr. Gordon and his son was ordered for the State by an authorized State purchasing agent, was forwarded by the contractor under the supposition that it was for the State, was billed to the State and was paid for by the State, which, by the way, has not yet been reimbursed for its cost. It was furnished at the State's own advantageous price of $2.90 a ton, making a saving of $50 on the carload as compared with the wholesale price at the time and a saving of much more as compared with the current retail price.

Gordon got coal from the State coal bins? Certainly not. He got it from a coal car delivered on a convenient siding.

'SWAGGER STICKS' AND SOLDIER POCKETS
Enlisted men as well as officers at Camp Funston are not only permitted, but encouraged, to carry "swagger sticks" by Gen. Leonard Wood.

A "swagger stick," which is defined by the dictionary as a "short cane carried by a British soldier when off duty," becomes accordingly a recognized and official part of the outfit of an American soldier. It does not detract from whatever actual value it has to confess that it would probably be a long time in finding any favor in the eyes of any American officer, had it not first been affected in the British army. In fact the facility with which some of our army officers are enabled to discover great merit in a thing after it has been adopted by the British—a Lewis gun, a style and cut in uniforms, a certain pattern in equipment, etc.—has been a cause of admiration for years.

The chief utility of the swagger stick is said to be in the alleged fact that it helps the soldier to solve the problem of what to do with his hands, and especially to resist the impulse to put the said hands in his pockets. However, its adoption is a ground for general gratitude on one account. The small number of articles a soldier is permitted to take with him has greatly embarrassed persons desiring to send suitable gifts to men in the service. After this we can pick out for "our" soldier a particularly nifty "swagger stick" and help pile up war-profits for the "swagger stick" makers.

INSECT PESTS.

Scoffers insist that there was a reason other than the needs of the State House for the purchase since Jan. 1 last of no less than 480 gallons of insecticide, some of it at a higher cost price than the list price of the manufacturers. How, they ask derisively, could the State of Missouri possibly find a use within so short a period for 15 barrels of insect destroyer?

Perhaps they reason without a complete knowledge of State House conditions. If some potent compound were known that might be depended on to destroy certain pests, more annoying than important, that have ravaged the State House for years, the people would not be satisfied to send it over in barrel lots. They would insist on shipping it in tank cars.

MR. ANTWERP ON FARM TAXES.

"WHILE we are talking about the Missouri State Tax Commission and are hearing something of its trials, why not seize the opportunity to say frankly that if there is a report in the State that the commission is going to increase farm taxes, we hope it is true?"

"Farm taxes in Missouri have got to go up, and what better time than now, when farmers are better off than they ever have been before or probably ever will be again? Certainly if the taxes on farm lands and other property cannot be equalized now, when a farm is worth more than a city block, there is mighty little hope that they ever will be."

"What the commission should do is to seize the remarkable opportunity it has just now and make this readjustment. It is a coward if it doesn't do it, and to be a coward when one has to go out of one's way, so to speak, to do it, is one of the unpardonable crimes."

"If the commission will find out what the farmers of Missouri are getting for wheat, corn, hogs, oats, hay, cattle and sheep, it can mighty soon get past the bugaboo of what would happen if farm taxes went up in Missouri."

"Great Scott! The way people are rolling in money on the farm these days Missouri could afford to try out the single tax."

IN SIGNS.

A tailor's sign, Cotter, Ark.

Sanitary Sultatorium

A lady in East St. Louis who has just qualified as a sign hunter and had her license rushed to her by express reports a curious state of mind upon the part of a druggist on the less popular side of the street who displays this sign:

It pays to cross the street?

It looks as if he were about to make the conviction unanimous.

An advertisement, St. Louis:

Wanted—For farm work, man who understands hogs and can run auto.

Our sign hunter, who says he has been ground hogs all his life and does not understand them yet, advances the theory that there isn't any such person.

They say every man has his price, but even that doesn't prepare one for this sign on Olive street:

THE THUNDER AND THE VOICE.

NO documents issued during the past three years make so lucid and intelligible the real issue of this great world war as the published addresses of President Wilson. His reply to the Pope's peace offer absolutely clears the ground of all subterfuge and secondary causes and defines the conflict as one between democracy and autocracy.

Mr. Russell's expose of the "Willy and Nicky" correspondence amply confirms this. The archives at Washington may contain other damaging evidence waiting the psychological moment for publication.

What then does this war mean to us? Do we hear the thunder or the voice? Is it hate, crime, bloodshed, atrocity, death, jealousy, greed? The world is staggered, it is reeling. Ah! but that is only the noise of the thunder. Some have not heard the voice.

The history of human development teems with instances where a shallow approach of life has hidden its true significance. The French Revolution shocked the world. A great nation seemed to be tottering to its doom. But we know today that was but a superficial interpretation—only the thunder. Within the turmoil of the tempest was a voice speaking out to the world, "Liberty, Equality, Fraternity."

There is a voice speaking above the thunder of this war. We stand too close to its horror and noise to understand. It invades our personal and private interests and confuses our vision. Coming generations will appraise its true value. It is a war of ideals. Posterity will say, "America made good," for she gave birth to a new day for humanity, a new era in which the weak cannot be driven to the wall.

To us it has already meant a larger and deeper conception of our responsibilities; a clearer vision of duty to one another, and of our obligations to other nations. We are no longer an isolated people; we are real cosmopolites, united in a holy bond of fellowship with all other nations like-minded in their love of freedom.

APPRECIATIVE—City dispensary has never been located at Grand and Caroline. It has been at 11th and Market for years.

H. O. W.—Muscular atrophy of the hand is a very difficult problem. It is doubtful that it can be cured. It should be under the observation of a competent physician.

M. T.—Foods depended on for mineral matters, vegetables, and body-regulating substances. Fruits: Apples, pears, etc. Vegetables: Salads—lettuce, celery, etc. Potatoes or "greens," potatoes and root vegetables, green peas, beans, etc. Tomatoes, squash, etc. Foods depended on for protein: Milk, skim milk, cheese, etc. Eggs, meat and poultry, fish, dried peas, beans, cowpeas, etc. Nuts. Foods depended on for starch: Cereal grains, meal, flour, etc. Cereal breakfast foods, bread, crackers, macaroni and other pastries; cakes, cookies, starchy puddings, etc. Potatoes and other starchy vegetables. Foods depended on for sugar: Sugar, molasses, sirups, honey, candies, fruits preserved in sugar, jellies, and dried fruits, sweet cakes and desserts. Foods depended on for fat: Butter, cream, lard, suet, and other cooking fats, salt pork and bacon, tallow and salad oils.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

M. B.—To prevent clothing sticking to leather furniture: Clean the leather with a cloth dampened with gasoline.

THANK YOU.—If you want slate sink to look better than it naturally does when it has been scoured, the paint store will doubtless sell you something for it.

THANK YOU.—If perfectly fresh butter is made into small rolls of 2 or 3 lbs. each, wrapped in fresh cloths and placed in a large jar of strong brine, it can be kept from early spring until September. Be sure that the butter is well covered with the brine.

HOME MADE VINEGAR: Save cores and peels of apples, cover with water and to every 2 gallons water add cup molasses and a little "mother" if available. Cover with netting and keep in warm place 2 or 3 weeks. Use cider if preferred, in which case 2 cups molasses to the gallon are necessary.

L. P.—Celery Relish: Take celery, onions, cabbage, chop fine and use celery leaves. Take 1/4 teaspoon English mustard, add paprika and vinegar. This is fine and can be made any time. Add endives if you have them. 4 x 4 Mustard Pickle: 2 qts. small cucumbers, 2 qts. green tomatoes, 2 qts. small onions, 1 qt. green peppers, 2 heads cauliflower. Cut cauliflower fine, slice tomatoes and cucumbers, chop peppers, boil in salt water until tender. Place—1 large cupful flour, 1 gallon vinegar, 1 1/2 lbs. sugar, 1/2 lb. mustard, 1/2 oz. turmeric to color it. Mix flour, sugar, mustard and turmeric together, then wet with cold vinegar, put all together and boil until it thickens, stirring constantly, then pour over vegetables.

PEPPER—Canning pimientos: Take pimientos of equal size and remove stem ends, seeds and inner fibers. Cut in halves and pour boiling water over. Let stand 1 minute, drain and drop into hot or very cold water and drain after 3 minutes. Repeat until they have been in the cold water 3 times. Drain for last time and place in glass jars. Take equal parts of good vinegar and water and to a pint of each add a teaspoon of sugar, bring to a boil and cool. When perfectly cool pour over the pimientos and seal. If poured on hot it will wilt the peppers and fade their color. Sweet green peppers can be prepared in the same way.

LAW POINTS.

HEIR—Explains more fully what you mean by limit of an heir's interest.

VIOLETTE—If parrot is cold it must be placed in the sun on a warm room. The answer has a yellow head Mexican that frequently dips his head into water. Sunflower seed, rice, sweet green corn, dandelion root, red peppers, are fed to parrots. They must be busy. Give them playthings—a stick to chew, a clothespin, a spoon, a pasteboard to tear, a cunning game, a piece of cloth. Change them frequently from one room to another, if the same temperature. It helps to brighten their mental activities. Allow parrots their freedom from the cage every day to walk about. If time is limited, ten minutes is better than none. LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

When the Hessians Came.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Former Ambassador Gerard states in his notes from Germany in yesterday's issue of the Post-Dispatch that "the Princess of Nassau, Anspach and Hesse, at the time of revolution, sold their unfortunate subjects to the British Government to be exported to fight the Americans." Now, none of these "unfortunate" subjects came from Nassau, which fact I like to emphasize because I am glad that this disgrace was kept from the soil where my cradle stood. Nassau was later annexed by the Prussians and its inhabitants are called today Forced Prussians (Muss-Preussen). But the province of Hesse-Kassel is next to Nassau and there it is where this disgraceful sale of human flesh was done. William the Ninth, Landgrave of Hesse-Kassel, loaned first to one George the Third of England 12,000 of his soldiers. They did not know anything about the details of this deal between Hesse and England, but were told that the Americans they were going to fight were savages who had slain against their masters, and were massacring women and children. To stop this bloodshed was for humanity's sake.

Let it be stated that these Hessian soldiers were not sent to America against their will. They voted by regiments and were given liberal pay. The money came so easily to this Landgrave of Hesse that he sent another contingent in 1794, and after three years still another one, but this time it was used against the French, and received in an over 20,000 dollars, which was a very large sum for those days. The Hessians had to suffer for it. Today they have the surname, blind, because they could not see what they were doing in this epoch of history. Edmund Burke said, when he heard they were coming: "We welcome these hired assassins with bloody hands to hospitable graves."

Progress.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The bull that stands upon a railroad track thinking that it can mope up a flying express is not more bull-headed than the individual who insists that the press is of no moment, that writers are of no account, etc. If the press is of no moment, then why, in some instances, is it prohibited the mails, and in other instances its news deleted?

SIDNEY AVERILL.

Grafting on Our Soldiers.

Knowing that the Post-Dispatch has always advocated fair play, I feel that through the columns of your excellent paper you may see fit to start a movement to correct a most deplorable condition existing in cities and towns where our military cantonments and camps are located.

In Montgomery, Ala., where 40,000 soldiers will be in training, I know of an instance where an officer is paying $40 a month for a bungalow that stood empty at $15 a month. Last year, while the soldiers were on the border, prices in restaurants and soda fountains doubled overnight. Grafting off soldiers is a most unpatriotic means of "swelling" one's bank account and should be stopped immediately.

A Federal investigation where cantonments and camps are located would reveal enough information to warrant the passage of a bill by Congress to stop this malpractice. Let us look after the interests of our soldiers who have gone away to fight for us, and demand that they get fair play.

A New American Exalts.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
Allow me to express my appreciation of the great opportunity given me to become an American citizen, a citizenship to be proud of, incomparable in liberty and freedom. I was among the fortunate to be granted final citizenship papers on Sept. 7, having immigrated from Austria in 1897 and having during these intervening years considered myself an American, but as a matter of fact, was still a subject of Austria. I want to be very thankful to this country for accepting me as a citizen of this great nation, whose chief aim is liberty and freedom of the people. It affords me great pleasure to think that I am now under the full protection of the Stars and Stripes and no longer a subject of Austria, which, in conjunction with Germany, broke all laws of warfare and disregarded other nations' rights. I appeal to all of foreign birth to be most loyal to this country and honor it at all times.

FRANK HUSBAUER.

CAN RUSSIA BE MEXICANIZED?

No other news during the next few days of anxiety can compare in interest with news from Russia. Events there hold the breathless attention of the world.

We may see presently what sort of a showing the republican troops, who fight Germans with only indifferent success, can make fighting one another. Gen. Korniloff is marching on Petrograd and has given orders that it shall be besieged. A collision is already reported between small Korniloff and Kerensky commands.

The Kaiser strove to master the new republic through intrigue and bribes and plots, and failed. He strove to master it through force of arms and fell short of a decision while acquiring new difficulties with Galicia's recovery and Riga's capture. With every mile of new territory taken, lines of communication are lengthened in the face of the approaching Russian winter and new burdens added in administering and guarding the gains.

But if Russians themselves in large masses could be made to assail the republic through organized intrigue and bribes and plots, what a tremendous improvement it would give to German prospects!

How immeasurably superior to all other plans for German mastery would be a plan to set Russians in large masses to fighting for the Kaiser against other Russians.

Could anything have worked out more wondrously for the enheartening of Germans in their present desperate need than this Korniloff revolt? Considering that what has come about is exactly that which the Kaiser must desire most of all things, is it believable for a moment that it has come about fortuitously or without an initiative other than that of Korniloff and his colleagues themselves?

The exalted patriotism they profess will not prevent the gravest suspicions of treachery from attaching to those who destroy in factional strife the resources that would give Russia freedom forever if employed unitedly against the common enemy.

We have thought of the Russian revolution as one perpetuating the ideals while avoiding the excesses of the French revolution. We have classed it with our own struggle upward to freedom. Is it to fall to the level of a Latin-American revolution disgraced by frightful contests between leaders to seize the chief power?

Of the Mexican civil wars of 1911-16, it has always been possible to assume that had the country been threatened with attack from without, the turbulent chiefs would have subordinated their differences until the foreign foe had been overcome.

Is Russia to be Mexicanized and plunged into a series of bloody convulsions the more tremendous and tragic than anything known on this continent in proportion as the Russians exceed the Mexicans in numbers, capacity and resources?

UNWRITTEN LAW IN ENGLAND.

The acquittal of Lieut. Malcolm by a British jury which tried him for the murder of the man who had wrecked his home, is the second recent case of the sort in English jurisprudence, and a reminder that, after all, human nature is pretty much the same the world over. As a rule, murder is murder and nothing else in the British courts and the so-called unwritten law does not operate to save the slayer. But, in this case, the husband's wrath was so righteous that the jury could not distinguish between it and its dramatic consequences.

The slain man was a cur and a villain who had no scruples against betraying a woman's honor, but who would not defend himself from physical chastisement or even fight to save his own life. If he had shown a trace of manhood in his bearing towards the man he wronged things probably would have gone differently with his slayer. But not even an English jury—and the English jury system is organized to convict, not acquit—would punish a man for destroying such an arrant poltroon.

To what extent will the case serve as a precedent in other trials of a similar nature? At least it ought to have a salutary effect both at home and abroad upon those who would invade households the heads of which are honorably away fighting for their country.

"AS MAINE GOES, SO THE UNION."

Prominent among the explanations of why Maine refused to ratify the Legislature's woman's suffrage bill by the overwhelming ratio of 2 to 1 is that the action of the militants in picketing the White House and annoying the President in this time of war prejudiced male voters against the cause.

There can be no doubt that such militancy did have its effect, but this alone seems scarcely sufficient to account for the anti-suffrage majority. Maine has always been a conservative commonwealth. It has a big rural vote, and rural votes, as a rule, are usually the last to favor radical changes in established institutions.

The suffragists apparently had discounted the probability of defeat. Their pre-election statements were pessimistic. Some of them had been conducting an equal suffrage propaganda there for 20 years or more. Yet they refuse to be discouraged, notwithstanding that they failed to carry more than two cities when they were most hopeful of the city vote. They have already started a campaign for reannulment.

Nevertheless the outlook for a growth of suffrage sentiment in the East does not appear very bright to the onlooker. The next test is to come on a constitutional amendment in New York at a special election Nov. 6. There the women have to overcome an adverse majority of 200,000 cast two years ago.

The conquest of New York would be a tremendous gain for their cause and would have important bearing upon the proposal for an equal suffrage amendment to the federal constitution. Unless they succeed in suppressing the militant sister at Washington by that time it is hard to see how they have even a remote chance to carry the Empire State.

PROPOSED PEACE REFERENDUM.

Pacifist newspapers and some Socialist leaders are urging a referendum on peace. Former Congressman Victor Berger says such a referendum could be based on President Wilson's answer to the Pope. He suggests that the Governments of the warring nations, including the United States, should enter into negotiations at once, their conclusions to be endorsed by a referendum in each of the countries interested.

These agitators, in harmony with their brethren, the German Government Socialists, would postpone the democratization of Germany until after the war, on the ground that within 30 years or so, Socialism and democracy will have made such headway in every country that peace and civilization will be assured for all.

It being a fight between an alliance of democratic nations and a gang of freebooters and murderers who have practiced all the tricks of the Father of Lies, we are asked to stop all our preparations, lay down our arms and leave that gang in full possession of its powers, in the hope that, some time within, say, 30 years, the German Socialists will have ceased to be a party of debaters and manifested the kind of courage that made Russian Socialists stand up to the machine guns of the Czar's police in Petrograd, in face of the fact that former revolutions started there had been swept away in the blood of their comrades.

There is one Socialist in Germany who has had the courage of his convictions—Liebknecht—and he is languishing behind the iron bars of the Prussian autocrat. The rest of the German Socialists are fighting the world's democracy tooth and nail. For three years they have stood shoulder to shoulder with the Junkers and have neither withheld appropriations nor men to bring about the full triumph of the worst autocracy the world has ever seen. Why should they ask for 30 years in which to show improvement? Why not a hundred?

We know the meaning of all this agitation. President Wilson voiced it in his Flag Day address, when he said that "the masters of Germany do not hesitate to use any agency that promises to effect their purposes, to deceive the nations. They are using men in Germany and without, as their spokesmen, whom they have hitherto oppressed, using them for their own destruction—Socialists, the leaders of labor, the thinkers they have hitherto sought to silence. Let them once succeed and the men now their tools, will be ground to powder beneath the weight of the great military empire they will set up; the revolution in Russia will be cut off from all succor or co-operation in Western Europe and a counter revolution fostered and supported. Germany herself will lose her chance of freedom; and all Europe will arm for the next, the final, struggle."

WHERE GORDON GOT HIS COAL.

Ex-Auditor John P. Gordon complains of the injustice done him in reports of the State coal deals. He says that neither he nor his son got any of the coal. He adds that never, while in or out of office at Jefferson City has he got a pound of coal from the State coal bins.

The carload of 40 tons of coal delivered to Mr. Gordon and his son was ordered for the State by an authorized State purchasing agent, was forwarded by the contractor under the supposition that it was for the State, was billed to the State and was paid for by the State, which, by the way, has not yet been reimbursed for its cost. It was furnished at the State's own advantageous price of $2.30 a ton, making a saving of $50 on the carload as compared with the wholesale price at the time and a saving of much more as compared with the current retail price.

Gordon got coal from the State coal bins? Certainly not. He got it from a coal car delivered on a convenient siding.

"SWAGGER STICKS" AND SOLDIER POCKETS.

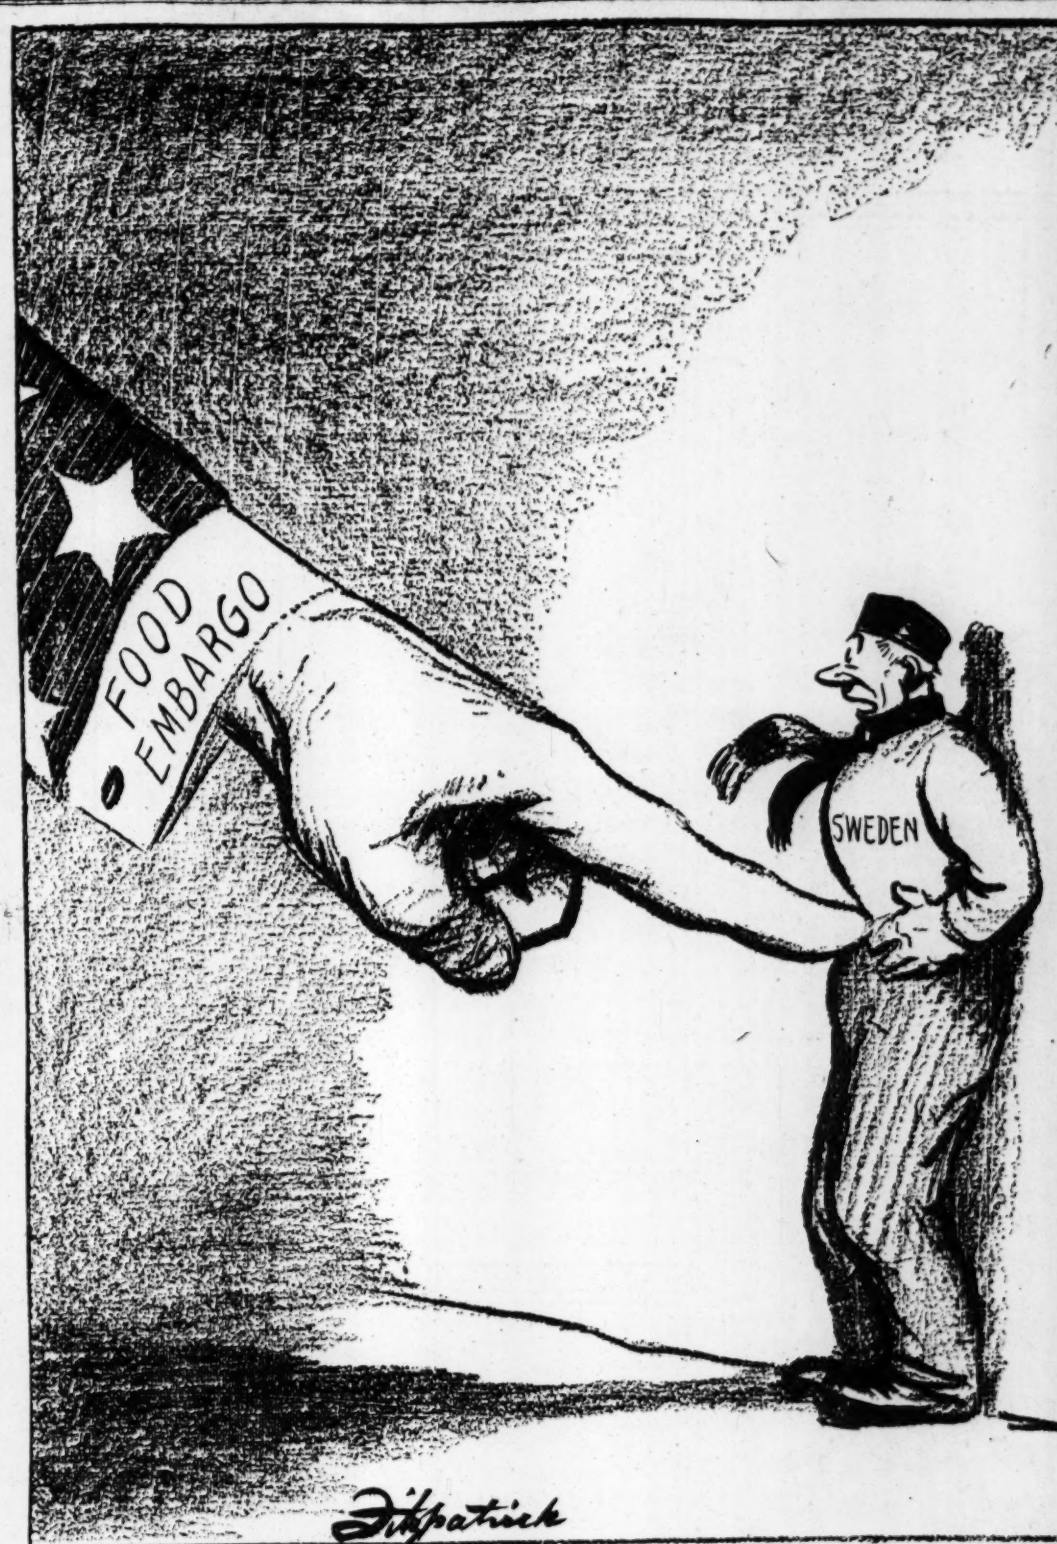

Enlisted men as well as officers at Camp Funston are not only permitted, but encouraged, to carry "swagger sticks" by Gen. Leonard Wood. A "swagger stick," which is defined by the dictionary as a "short cane carried by a British soldier when off duty," becomes accordingly a recognized and official part of the outfit of an American soldier. It does not detract from whatever actual value it has to confess that it would probably be a long time in finding any favor in the eyes of any American officer, had it not first been affected in the British army. In fact the facility with which some of our army officers are enabled to discover great merit in a thing after it has been adopted by the British—a Lewis gun, a style and cut in uniforms, a certain pattern in equipment, etc.—has been a cause of admiration for years.

The chief utility of the swagger stick is said to be in the alleged fact that it helps the soldier to solve the problem of what to do with his hands, and especially to resist the impulse to put the said hands in his pockets. However, its adoption is a ground for general gratitude on one account. The small number of articles a soldier is permitted to take with him has greatly embarrassed persons desiring to send suitable gifts to men in the service. After this we can pick out for "our" soldier a particularly nifty "swagger stick" and help pile up war-profits for the "swagger stick" makers.

INSECT PESTS.

Scuffers insist that there was a reason other than the needs of the State House for the purchase since Jan. 1 last of no less than 480 gallons of insecticide, some of it at a higher cost price than the list price of the manufacturers. How, they ask derisively, could the State of Missouri possibly find a use within so short a period for 15 barrels of insect destroyer?

Perhaps they reason without a complete knowledge of State House conditions. If some potent compound were known that might be depended on to destroy certain pests, more annoying than important, that have ravaged the State House for years, the people would not be satisfied to send it over in barrel lots. They would insist on shipping it in tank cars.

MR. ANTWERP ON FARM TAXES.

"WHILE we are talking about the Missouri State Tax Commission and are hearing something of its trials, why not seize the opportunity to say frankly that if there is a report in the State that the commission is going to increase farm taxes, we hope it is true?"

"Farm taxes in Missouri have got to go up, and what better time than now, when farmers are better off than they ever have been before or probably ever will be again? Certainly if the taxes on farm lands and other property cannot be equalized now, when a farm is worth more than a city block, there is mighty little hope that they ever will be."

"What the commission should do is to seize the remarkable opportunity it has just now and make this readjustment. It is a coward if it doesn't do it, and to be a coward when one has to go out of one's way, so to speak, to do it, is one of the unpardonable crimes."

"If the commission will find out what the farmers of Missouri are getting for wheat, corn, hogs, oats, hay, cattle and sheep, it can mighty soon get past the bugaboo of what would happen if farm taxes went up in Missouri."

"Great Scott! The way people are rolling in money on the farm these days Missouri could afford to try out the single tax."

IN SIGNS.

A tailor's sign, Cotter, Ark.:

Sanitary Sultorium

A lady in East St. Louis who has just qualified as a sign hunter and had her license rushed to her by express reports a curious state of mind upon the part of a druggist on the less popular side of the street who displays this sign:

It pays to cross the street?

It looks as if he were about to make the conviction unanimous.

An advertisement, St. Louis:

Wanted—For farm work, man who understands hogs and can run auto.

Our sign hunter, who says he has been around hogs all his life and does not understand them yet, advances the theory that there isn't any such person.

They say every man has his price, but even that doesn't prepare one for this sign on Olive street:

SILAS REPLACES HIS "TURNIP"

By Charles A. Goddard.
Written for the Post-Dispatch.

"EVER hear of anyone around here by the name of Evans Abbott?" Dusty Paddock, the express agent, asked Silas Warner one morning.

"Nope. Don't know as I ever did."

"There's a watch here for a fellow by that name," explained Paddock, pointing to the safe. "It's been here for two weeks, and I can't find anyone who knows Abbott. It's C. O. D. $37.50; so I reckon it's a good watch."

"Wouldn't mind havin' one myself. My 'turnip' has 'bout got to where it won't go no more." And Silas produced a heavy silver case watch that had long since begun to show brass. "But I sure wouldn't pay no $37.50 for one."

A few days later Silas met Paddock coming out of the postoffice.

"Say, Mr. Warner, do you remember that watch I spoke to you about—the one that came C. O. D. $37.50 for a fellow named Abbott?"

"Yes. Find him?"

"No, I didn't, but a letter came last night from the company. It was a misspelling. They want me to sell it for a fair price. Do you still want one?"

"Yes, but not at $37.50." The figure was high to Silas, but if there was a chance for the buyer to take a hand in the price-setting, the original price wouldn't stand for Silas.

"What'll you give for it?"

"I'll take a look and then tell you." And Silas fell in with Paddock to the depot express office. Paddock opened the safe and drew out a small package from which he pulled a watch.

"Some fellow was ordering a fancy watch for himself," said Warner. "I'll bet that watch would fetch $50 at Gus Eichenheimer's."

The watch was a bright as a new gold coin, had good hands and a pretty face. It made Silas' old watch appear very cheap, indeed.

"The initials 'E. A.' are laboratorily engraved on the case," Silas said. "You see they've got to sell it cheap," explained Paddock, pointing to the initials. "Read their letter."

"Inasmuch as the customer refuses to accept the watch on account of the delay, and as it has his initials in it, we realize that we cannot ask its full wholesale price. However, he has paid down a certain amount and we can afford to let it go at a reasonably reduced price. Try to find a buyer; and if you can get an offer, write us."

"Have you had any offers?" Silas asked, looking over his glasses at Paddock.

"No. Couldn't find a soul that wanted one at any price. Looks as though the company is up against it. What will you give?"

Silas saw that his bid would be taken seriously, no matter how low it was.

"Oh, I'll give $15. I don't like the idea of these initials in it. Tell 'em I'll give $15. Not crazy for it, at that."

The next week Paddock flipped a letter at Silas as he sat at his desk in the First National Bank. It was a very sarcastic letter from the makers of the watch. They knew they hadn't much choice in the matter, but "the idea of being taken advantage of didn't appeal to them," they said. But they accepted the offer.

"Josey," Silas addressed Mrs. Warner that evening. "I got me a new watch today. What do you think of it?" And he produced the successor to the old worn silver "turnip."

"Why, it's got 'E. A.' on it. Those are not your initials."

"No, that's the reason I got it at a bargain. I only paid $15 for that."

"Silas, did you get that from the express office?"

"Yes. How did you know?"

"Well, they ought to have gone on and engraved an 'S' and a 'W' on it; for you still keep on being an easy mark."

"I don't call gettin' a $50 watch for $15 bein' easy—do you?"

"Well, I could have gotten you a wagon load of them. Mrs. Hall just told me her brother got one up at Mendon the same way. Then he found out that a fellow in Pontiac had done the same. The watches are cheap, as you'll find out if you take it to Eichenheimer's. Some sharper in St. Paul sent out a bunch of them all over the country. They aren't real folks at all. Then when the express agent reports on them he is asked to get an offer. The suckers like you, try to beat the watch company and they get beat themselves. Talk to Hall about it tomorrow. He'll tell you all about it."

"I won't talk to nobody. Every time I try to save a dollar you give me a lecture." And Silas put his old "turnip" back on the job.

How Much Did Anna Get?

An old man died in Milwaukee many years ago, disposed of an estate valued at $500 in the following manner:

"Mary to receive for her share $200 more than the other children; Nicholas to receive $50 less than the other children; John to receive $75 less than the other children; Anna to receive $30 less than the other children; Joseph, Peter, Gabriel and Frank to receive an equal share, which shall be $200 less than Mary, $50 more than Nicholas, $75 more than John and $30 more than Anna."

THE CASE OF THE WOMAN MOTORIST

Submitted to "Tribunal" of Traffic Officers

They Find She Is Less Trouble Than the Man Driver, and Her Main Fault Is in Being TOO Careful—But She Will "Sneak" Over to the Wrong Side of the Street to Park While Shopping.

By Marguerite Martyn.

"HEY, there, Ollie, I bet y'u that's a woman hogging the street up there ahead," called a truck driver to traffic officer Schopp at the corner of Seventh and Locust. Officer Schopp's response was to lift his hat to the woman driver and let traffic, however impatient, move slowly down the street.

The teamster's comment is a sample of what seems to have become a quite general habit of speaking of the woman motorist.

"When I see one of these white-haired dames driving her own car down town, I give her the whole street to herself," said a woman driver, clutching my elbow and pulling me back to the sidewalk.

"You never can tell what a woman is going to do. She may change her mind in the middle of the block and decide to go in the opposite direction without warning, just as you are about to pass her." It took a very small disappointed looking man to say this.

One listens to these cynical allusions to women as drivers until one's patience begins to show the wear, even as the dropping of water will wear upon solid granite. If it's as bad as that why don't we hear from the traffic officers on the subject? If women are the incompetent, irresponsible, inconsiderate drivers they are said to be, surely the traffic officer, standing there exposed to their onslaught from all directions must be the chief sufferer. Yet I have noticed repeatedly, just as the teamster at Seventh and Locust must have noticed, that a spirit of mutual regard and understanding seems to exist between the traffic officer and the woman motorist. I see them exchange smiles and greetings in the midst of the rush of things every day.

Traffic Officers' Verdict.
WILL you be willing, you objectors to and defenders of the woman motorist, to submit the case to a tribunal of the traffic officers and accept their verdict as final?

Then, hark ye, and all objectors prepare forever after to hold your peace.

"If the men gave us as little trouble as the women drivers, our work of regulating traffic would amount to nothing at all." These were the words of Sergeant Gerko who is the human semaphores at Twelfth and Locust, which is the corner where there is more traffic than at any other in town.

"If women have a fault it is that they are too careful and too cautious," said Officer Schopp. "They still not take chances. A woman driver usually comes to a full stop as she reaches a corner, even though she has the signal to go ahead. She won't take our word for it that the crossing is clear, but she must look and see for herself. If there were enough of them, the delay they cause might be a serious consideration, but we'd rather they'd be too slow than too fast, and they can't be too careful to suit us."

Officer Meyer at Tenth and Olive said, in proportion to their numbers I believe there are as many really skillful drivers among women as among men.

Unusually one glances over the names quoted to see if there is any indication that one of these gallant officers may have kissed the Blarney Stone recently. But you can see for yourself, there isn't a chance.

"But women must have some faults," I pursued, when I found the defensive attitude no longer necessary. "We do not pretend to be perfect."

Sergeant Gerko took on the air of one searching in his memory.

Ignore Parking Rules.
WOMEN have their faults as drivers, but mostly they are the faults of the fifteen also. Women never are the wild drivers, and those are the ones we have to look out for. There are one or two blocks downtown where women are the chief offenders. Their offenses usually are against the parking rules on the narrow streets where the one-way traffic rule is in force.

On Seventh street, for instance, you are allowed to park only on the east side of the street, but on the opposite side there are candy stores and millinery and jewelry and other shops patronized mostly by women. If we don't watch them they will sneak over to the west side and leave their cars unattended while they do a little shopping.

Nothing is so essential to health in advancing age as freedom and normal activity of the bowels. It makes one feel younger and fresher, and forestalls colds, piles, fevers and other dependent ills.

Cathartics and purgatives are violent and drastic in action and should be avoided. A mild, effective laxative, recommended by physicians and thousands who have used it, is far preferable. This is the combination of simple laxative herbs with peppermint oil, sold under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It costs only fifty cents a bottle; a trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 458 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

How to Can Authentic Directions for Putting Up Vegetables at Home.

Can your vegetables now.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture advises you to do it this way:

FERMENTED STRING BEANS.

Wash beans, cracks or wide-mouthed bottles, or glass jars, not suitable for canning, may be used for salting beans.

Do not use any containers of yellow or pitch pine.

Wash thoroughly and steam keep, or other containers to be used.

SELECT young and tender string beans.

Wash the beans, drain off surplus water, and weigh them.

For each 100 pounds of the vegetable, allow 3 pounds of salt; for smaller quantities use the same proportion—3 per cent.

Remove tip ends and strings from the beans.

Cut or break the beans into pieces 2 inches long.

Cover the bottom of the container to be used with a 1-inch layer of the beans, and sprinkle with a little of the salt.

Continue adding layers of the beans sprinkled with salt until the container is about three-quarters full.

Sprinkle the last of the salt on the top layer and spread over it 1 or 2 thicknesses of cheesecloth.

Place upon the cheesecloth a round piece of board 1 inch in thickness, cut to fit down into the container.

Place a clean stone or weight on top of the board; the size of the weight depending upon the quantity of material to be preserved. For 5 gallons a weight of 10 pounds is sufficient.

Let stand about 24 hours, or until the weight added has extracted a brine sufficient to cover the top of the beans.

Leave in a warm room until fermentation is completed and no bubbles rise to the surface when the receptacle is tapped gently.

Rate of fermentation depends upon the temperature.

In warm weather 8 to 10 days is required; in cool, 2 to 3 weeks.

Store receptacle in a cool place.

Cover the top of the brine with hot melted paraffin to form an air-tight surface.

If the paraffin becomes broken, remove, remelt and replace.

KNIFE ON CORNS CAUSE OF LOCKJAW

Tells how to loosen a tender corn so it lifts out without pain.

You reckless men and women who have pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freestone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn, the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out with the fingers.

It is a sticky substance which dries the moment it is applied and is said to simply shrivel the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You are further warned that cutting at a corn is a suicidal habit.

THE SANDMAN STORY FOR TONIGHT

By Mrs. F. A. Walker.

Jimmy and the Jinx

IT was a warm September afternoon and there was no school. The reason there was no school was because the town academy had burned down and no suitable place had yet been found in which to assemble the children.

So Jimmy thought he would go after pears out to his uncle's farm. The road was good for a part of the way, so Jimmy lay down in the sun to rest. But he was not enjoying himself. As he watched the clouds sailing, he remembered that this was a busy afternoon at home. His mother had a lot to see to and had asked him to rake the yard and bring in the kindling, for it might rain before morning. Then the apples had to be packed, the pears gathered and many other little things seen to at once.

"My, but I feel mean about leaving everything to mother," said Jimmy. "I wish I had a Jim to take my place for a few hours."

"Well, here is what you want," said an old woman, suddenly appearing from a bush. "Make a wish on this and it will seem to be just what you desire."

She gave him a white stone.

"I wish someone looking just like me would go home and do the work mother wants," he said quickly.

In a moment a second Jimmy stood in the road. A smiling, freckled-faced boy, with a pug nose, a torn hat and a brown shirt open at the throat.

"Hello, kid!" said the real Jimmy. "beat it home and do my work about the house for me till dusk. I will try to reward you some way."

The imitation Jimmy darted out of sight and the real Jimmy started shivering. But the fish did not bite. The sun grew hot and tanned his nose, the light dancing on the water hurt his eyes, his shoes began to pinch his toes and he was hungry.

Then he began to think about the hot rolls browned in the oven. Visions of fried apples and scrambled eggs rose in appetizing array. It certainly was mean to send another boy, when he himself was idling away his time. How hard mother worked and how much there was to do.

"Heigh, get up there, you lazy bones," said the old woman, appearing again. "Do you think I am doing favors for fun? Turn in here and weave this carpet."

She led Jimmy into a dark room in which stood a big loom. Taking up a big stick, she stood over the boy and made him send the shuttle back and forth in a steady way. The long, heavy threads tangled, and that made her angry. So he tried to run. But it was of no use.

"You stay still, young man," she chuckled. "You wanted to run away from work. I knew you were a strong boy, and though it would do you good to weave here a bit. This is the carpet of life on which you are working. The bright threads are our pleasures and the dark ones our sorrows. Our lives depend pretty much on just what we try to weave into them."

"And on whose life am I working now?" asked Jimmy, who felt interested.

"Your own, silly boy," replied the woman, "of course. You only have the weaving of your own life. Selfishness makes many dark threads in our own lives and brings them also into others. You will see here that the bright threads of contentment make the carpet a lovely thing. And kindness is another shining strand. Weave your life of the happy threads of kindness and contentment and duty, and you will see it flashes in glorious hues."

Just then a motor came roaring down the road and Jimmy, rubbing his eyes, sprang up. It was his uncle on the way to town.

Dear Folks: Well, I am getting my first taste of trench life, and believe me, it is all that you have heard about it and more. But none of us expected a picnic when we came over here. Of course, someone has to keep an eye out for German snipers all of the time, but I am of the opinion that the rats bother us more than the Germans. The trenches and dugouts are filled with them, and they run over you during the night. They are an awful nuisance and I wish that we had brought a...

TALLEST CHIMNEY IN

WORLD IS IN JAPAN

IN many cities in various lands are chimneys which have been proclaimed as "the tallest in the world," but the structure which, without doubt, truly possesses this title has recently been completed in Sagami, Japan, according to Popular Mechanics. It is of reinforced concrete and stands 570 feet high on a hill 430 feet higher than the copper smelter with which it is connected, so that it discharges its poisonous fumes 1000 feet above the plant.

The chimney is 42 feet in diameter at the base and its inside diameter at the top is 24 feet. The foundation is 95 feet in diameter and contains 2700 cubic yards of concrete. The first 150 feet of the chimney has a concrete lining separated from the outer wall by a 5-inch air space. Four hundred tons of steel were used in the whole construction.

One zigzag steel leads from the smelter up the hill, to the base of the structure.

The reason for making this passageway so irregular was to thoroughly baffle the gases as they passed on their way to the great upright vent.

There are some people so unlike Gabriel that they will never blow their last horn.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

said Jimmy. "I am in a hurry, for mother has a lot to do today, and I am going to help her."

A happy and tired Jimmy it was that ate a big supper of rolls and fried apples, and went to bed that night with a light heart, knowing he was helping to weave bright threads into his mother's life.

THEY were seated in a tramcar—the mother and her little boy.

The conductor eyed the little boy suspiciously. He had to keep a look-out for people who pretended that their children were younger than they really were, in order to obtain free rides for them.

"And how old is your little boy, madame, please?"

"Three and a half," said the mother truthfully.

"Right, ma'am," said the conductor satisfied.

Little Willie pondered a minute. It seemed to him that fuller information was required.

"And mother's 31," he said politely.—Tilt-Bits.

You Can Nurse Your Baby Longer

Instead of weaning him at five or six months, you can nurse him the full nine months that you should, if he is little, you substitute one feeding a day of Nestlé's.

It is so like mother's milk that the baby will feel no difference.

Nestlé's gives him just that little extra food he needs to help along his growing little body. And when weaning time comes, he will change to the bottle gradually and easily on

Nestlé's Food

(A complete milk food — not a milk modifier)

It is better for the baby and is better for you. Your own health will be better because you are allowed to miss a nursing or two and go out into the fresh air.

When you wean your baby on Nestlé's you know he is safe, because Nestlé's is always the same, always free from germs, always contains the same things that your baby needs. Don't wean him on raw cows' milk. You can never be sure of raw cows' milk even if you know it comes from a clean dairy, even if you know it is free from sickness. It has a tough curd the baby can't digest, and home modifying is uncertain. You cannot modify it with such scientific care and uniformity as Nestlé's does it for you.

In Nestlé's—milk from healthy cows, purified, free from germs—the calf needs are modified, the baby needs are added. Reduced to a powder—it comes to you in an air-tight can. No germs can reach it. It is a complete food, so you add only water and boil one minute—and you know that you are giving your baby the food that his little body needs.

WHITE SOX-GIANTS GAIN ON RIVALS IN HOME STRETCH

Pennant Fights in Both Majors Beginning to Assume Definite Shape.

RED SOX ARE SLIPPING

Defeat by Walter Johnson Adds Half a Game to Chicago's Margin.

Pennant races, as the result of yesterday's games in both the National and American leagues, have reached the "all-over-but-the-shouting" stage. The Giants, thanks to a latent punch that served them well, grabbed both ends of a double-header with Brooklyn, the first game 3 to 2 in 10 innings and the second 2 to 1. As both the Phillies and Cardinals cut out—50 on the day's work, New York gained a full game.

In the American League, Walter Johnson boosted the White Sox flag stock by holding the Red Sox to two hits and winning, 4-3, errors accounting for the brace of runs counted by the world champions. The White Sox enjoyed an open day, but by remaining idle they gained half a game on the Barry's, thus bringing their lead up to 7½ games.

An idea of the job the Red Sox have cut out for them is shown by the figures. The White Sox have 16 more games to play, the Red Sox 20, providing a postponed game the latter have with Detroit is disposed of. If Commy's boys break even on their allotment the Red Sox must win 18 of their 20 to beat them out. Should the White Sox fall to win a game for the rest of the season, Boston would have to split even in their 20 to tie them. Frazee was right—it's a $25,000 task. Here are the figures showing what the Sox entries may accomplish in their remaining games:

CHICAGO.	BOSTON.
Win. Loss. Pct. Win. Loss. Pct.
0 16 .301 20 0 .664
1 15 .387 19 1 .658
2 14 .404 18 2 .631
3 13 .417 17 3 .645
4 12 .431 16 4 .638
5 11 .445 15 5 .632
6 10 .459 14 6 .625
7 9 .473 13 7 .618
8 8 .487 12 8 .611
9 7 .500 11 9 .604
10 6 .514 10 10 .597
11 5 .528 9 11 .590
12 4 .542 8 12 .583

The Giants seem to be merely loafing their way through. In the second game of yesterday's double bill, they copped from Jack Coombs, who has lost but two verdicts to the McGraws in his major league career.

Why Not Try This?

Here's one way for the Browns to evade the cellar: simply remain idle and let the Athletics play out their schedule. The Yankees helped the Jones' cause along yesterday by taking both ends of a double bill from the Macks, the second time in two days they have accomplished the feat, thus giving the Browns a margin of two games for seventh place.

Tigers Are Blanked.

Stanley Coveleskie threw the hook into the Tigers, giving Cleveland a 1 to 0 victory. Ty and his pals were able to glean but three hits. Roth and Graney won the game with a pair of singles, the third, the latter counting the only run of the game.

Two Doubles for Walter.

Walter Johnson is every bit as big a factor at bat as on the mound. Against Dutch Yates, he helped out considerably, getting three hits in four attempts. Two of the fireball king's bingles went for doubles.

No Compromise of Suit.

Charles M. Hay, attorney for Johnny Lavan and Derrill Pratt in their $50,000 suits against President Phil Ball of the Browns, denied yesterday that the public suit was a compromise had been broached. "Are you contemplating suing any one else?" he asked. "I am considering certain statements. Ben Johnson made when he was in St. Louis recently," replied Hay. "Some of these strike my fancy, but I have nothing definite to announce as yet."

Sisler Hurts Wrist.

Now comes the climax of hard luck for Fielder Jones. George Sisler was seen wearing a bandage on his right wrist in the games with the Tigers last Sunday. He has been excused from daily practice since then and it is possible, won't be able to get in against Cleveland Friday.

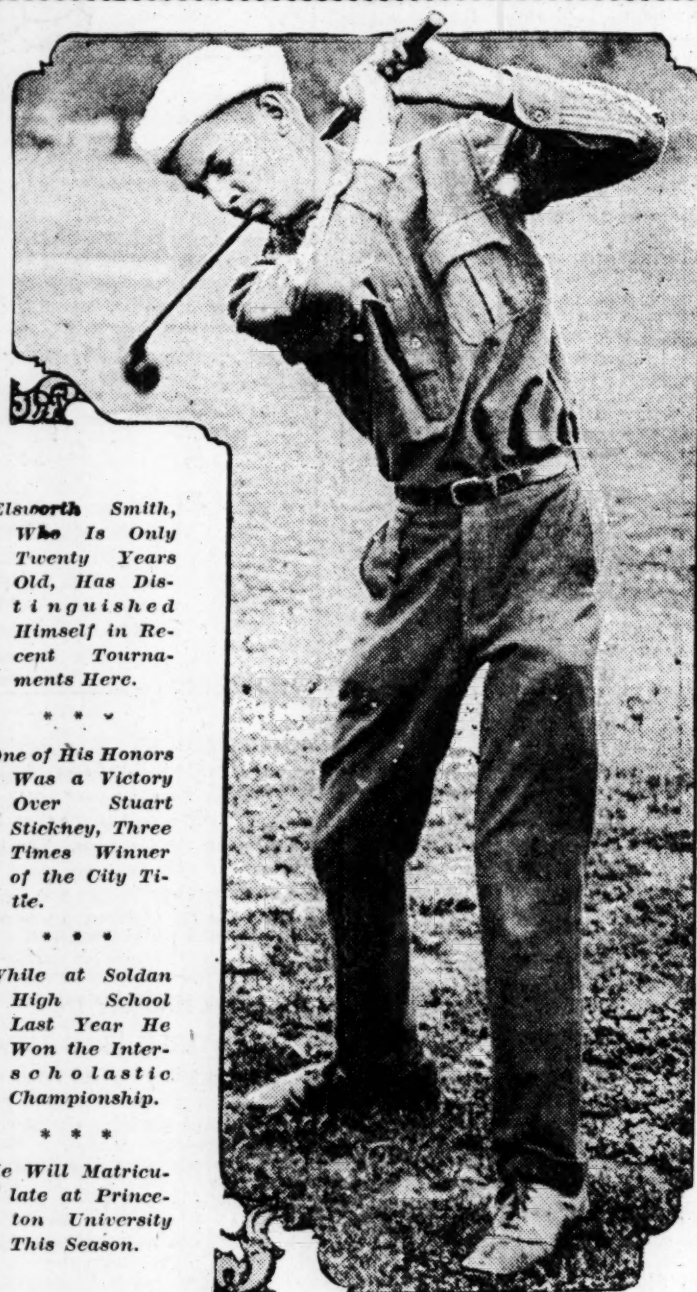

Rootless to Report.

Lowdermilk, Gerber and Demmitt, the Columbus trio, are supposed, at report to Jones Friday and the latter two may be used in the opener against the Indians if they arrive in time. Jones said yesterday they were due for a thorough trial.

Soldan High Graduate, Now in Third Round of City Tourney

Interscholastic Champion Makes Bid for City Title

Elsworth Smith, Who Is Just 20 Years Old, Must Defeat Roger Lord, Former Champion, to Reach Semi-Final in Forest Park Tourney Today.

ELSWORTH B. SMITH, Soldan High School '17, seems to be on a fair way toward coupling interscholastic and city golf supremacy.

Certainly, with play in the city championship tournament only at the quarter-finals stage and with Roger E. Lord, one time district champion, his opponent today, this may be an inauspicious time to present a new champion. But the Soldan High boy is playing the best golf of his so far brilliant career, and this seems a tournament of form reversals. Smith first attracted notice when he held Jesse Carleton to a 1-up victory in the first round of the 1915 St. Louis district tournament, and then won the consolation championship by defeating Bert Walker and Dwight F. Davis.

Last year he won the high-school championship of the city, defeating Jesse Sweetser, the precocious youth who attracted much attention while representing Central High School. This season his most noteworthy victory was over Stuart Stickney in the State tournament. Last month he won the annual tournament at Point aux Barques, Mich., defeating a number of recognized players from the Midwest.

Smith Defeated Caddy Champion
In the present tournament, Smith qualified with an 18, defeated Frank Donovan, caddy champion, 4 and 3, in the first round; and eliminated R. C. McMahon, 2 up, yesterday. The effective fact of the latter victory was his return from impending defeat when he was 2 down going to 15, by winning the last four holes played.

Smith is 20 years old. He will enter Princeton this month and intends to try for the school honors in the tournament to be held in October. He is at present a member of the Triple A.

The Smith-Lord affair is not the only interesting match today. In fact, the result in all four contests is doubtful.

John Pep, the conqueror of James Manion, State and municipal champion, meets Clarence Warrington today in the 18-hole event for professionals and amateurs and better scores were predicted for today as the men are more familiar with the difficulties of the 6452-yard links.

The best score thus far turned in was 67, made by M. J. Brady of Boston. In yesterday's event, but as the players lifted balls whenever their partners had holed the best ball, it did not constitute a record for the course. St. Louis was represented in the best ball play by Willie Kidd of the Algonquin Club, and G. Carroll of Chicago. Their score was 74.

JUSTIES FAVORED TO BEAT ONE-TIME CONQUEROR TODAY

Triple A Tennis Star Paired With Ray Hollinshead in City Tourney Match.

GAMBLE WON YESTERDAY

City Champion Defeated Theodore Mayer Rather Easily in Third Round.

Play in the third round of the city championship tennis tournament now in progress on the Triple A courts, will bring together, this afternoon, Fred Justies and Ray Hollinshead, the municipal champion. These two players met during midsummer in the final round for the public court title with Hollinshead surprising the following with a victory over his more reputed opponent. Justies had the previous week won from Ted Drewes, the Central States champion. Justies is favored to win today. Outside of this match, today's third round play will continue as a part of the wedding-out process. Because of the unusual large number of entries, it is taking longer for the title fight to meet in actual competition. Several third-round matches were played yesterday. Clarence Gamble, the present champion, being one of those to survive the play. Gamble had an easy time with Theodore Mayer. George Passmore, who represented Drummond, Jones, former tournament at Forest Hills, L. I., also won his match, defeating E. A. Rice, the captain of the Municipal A. A. team. Drummond, Jones, former tournament at Forest Hills, L. I., also won his match, defeating E. A. Rice, the captain of the Municipal A. A. team. Drummond, Jones, former tournament at Forest Hills, L. ENTRIES FOR MUNICIPAL ROWING REGATTA WILL BE HELD OPEN TILL SEPT. 20
At a meeting last night of the committee in charge of the arrangements of the first annual rowing regatta to be staged by the Municipal Association, it was decided to close the entries on Sept. 20, three days before the events are to be rowed on the river, a course between the Eads and the Free Bridge having been selected.

From present indications it looks as if the regatta would have a greater entry than any race on the river this season. Especially is this true in the four and eight-oared events. Park Commissioner Cunliff stated yesterday that he would obtain a trophy for the victorious club. The St. Louis Rowing Club has agreed to take charge of the boats and oarsmen during the running of the regatta.

MISS BURSTED BEATS CALIFORNIA GIRL RIVAL IN MIXED DOUBLES PLAY

CINCINNATI, Sept. 12.—The tennis stars who are touring the country in the interest of the war ambulance fund displayed the highest class of tennis in contests which they staged here yesterday. Two of the three matches were decided in straight sets. Harold Throckmorton, Elizabeth N. J. with Frederick N. Alexander, New York, as his partner, defeated Sam Hardy, California, and C. S. Garland, Pittsburgh, in men's doubles by the scores of 2-6, 7-5, 6-3.

A mixed doubles match was won by Miss Molla Burstedt, Norway, paired with John Strachan, California, from Throckmorton and Alexander. Mary Browne, California, by the scores of 6-4, 7-5.

Strachan also played in a singles match with Alexander and won in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2.

FOOTBALL CAPTAIN AT INDIANA WILL RETURN
BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Sept. 12.—Announcement was made here today that R. G. Hathaway, captain-elect of the 1917 football team of Indiana University, will return to the university for the opening of the fall term.

Walker to Coach Williams.
WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Sept. 12.—The Williams College Athletic Council announced today that Fred Walker, who has been assistant to Coach Stagg of the University of Chicago for several seasons, had accepted appointment as Williams' football coach for the coming season.

The fourth game of the series is scheduled for today. "Mule" Watson and Mule Watson will probably do the pitching. Play at 3:15 o'clock.

SPORT SALAD

The Revue.

THREE thousand rooters, more or less, including members of the press, went out to see the Triple A game. The Pirates got to Spittin' Bill, Willie Steele, with his deceptive pill. Dished out a row of zeroes.

The Cardinals then took a brace. And, in the second, set a pace in which they were freezing. The weather man is laying plans To freeze a bunch of loyal fans And set them all to sneezing.

The Cards are second to the Phils. And, if our boys don't get the chills. We shortly will supplant them. 'Tis then we'll make the welkin ring. And in the praise of Huggins sing.

A nifty little anthem. The Mackmen took another slip And for the cellar championship They seem to be elected. The Browns can't win the booby prize Unless the Macks should take a rise. A move that's not expected.

The Boston Sox have shot their bolt. The Griffins gave them such a jolt. Their holes they'll soon be hunting. The White Sox see to have a cinch And in a day or so they'll clinch Their hold upon the bunting.

Heads and Tails.
THE White Sox gained half a game in the race by remaining idle while the Browns strengthened their hold on seventh place. It looks like the White Sox and Mackmen.

Of course the Browns can still cop the basement championship, but at this juncture the Sox are going now, their chances are not rosy. We'll get 'em next year. The Giants departed from their usual custom, yesterday, and won the game by a 10-0 score. Must have got a whiff of the world's series dough.

The aroma of long green is a great incentive to deeds of valor and eke out of violence the occasion requires. Eh, Johnny?

Walter Johnson did yeoman service in the cause of Comiskey, yesterday, letting the Red Sox down with two hits. The Sox scored 3 runs on 2 hits while the Senators tallied 4 runs on 13 hits, which shows in a measure the uncertainties of baseball.

The Senators made 13 hits which might have hoodooed them if they had not kicked in with a counter irritant in the shape of 13 assists. One hoodoo knocks another.

They say it takes nine tails to make a man. It takes about 100,000 dollars to make a $100,000 fall suit.

ONE EARNED TALLY FOR PIRATES, WITH 21 REACHING FIRST

Two Pittsburg Runs in First Game Come as Result of Errors by Rogers Hornsby.

12 RUNNERS ARE LEFT

13 Hits, Five Passes, Error and Two Fielder's Choices Put Bezdek's Men On.

Why the Pirates are 14 games behind the seventh place club in the National League was clearly shown in the opening battle of yesterday's twin bill with the Cardinals. This despite the fact that the Corsairs won the contest, 3-0.

In the nine innings, Hugo Bezdek's tallenders put 21 men on first base and scored only one earned run, the other pair coming as a result of errors by Hornsby.

This proves clearly that the Pirates lack a man to clout across surely owes all of his rise and much of his financial gains to his supremacy in golf as many a professional, even though his profits are indirect. Schools are noted for athletes who sell their athletic prowess for education or even for money.

The only earned marker of the contest came in the fifth inning, when Fitterer walked, reached second on Mollwitz's martyr death, advanced on an infield out and scored when Max Carey cracked a single to left. In this session, the Corsairs put four men on the initial sack.

Carey Drives in Marker.
Of the Pirate runners to camp on first, 13 reached the bag by hitting safely, five received transportation from Doak, one on an error and the others on fielder's choices. Doak and Packard, who hurled the ninth, did not succeed in retiring the tallenders in order in a single frame.

Here's how the Pirates put their men in base:
First Inning—King singled.
Second—Fitterer walked.
Third—Steele singled, Pitterer and Carey walked.
Fourth—Wagner singled.
Fifth—Pitterer walked, Carey and Val Sutermeister walked on a fielder's choice. Pitterer scored.
Sixth—Boeckel singled, Wagner forced him. Steele doubled.
Seventh—Mollwitz singled, King safe on Hornsby's error, Pitterer and Bigbee singled, Mollwitz scored.
Eighth—Steele singled.
Ninth—King doubled, Carey and Bigbee singled. King scored.

Twelve of the Corsairs were left, one was nailed in a double killing and two were expunged at the plate, while another was stricken down between third and the plate. But the above shows that 21 men can be put on first and yet tally only three runs.

In the second game, the Cards put 13 men on first and scored five runs, while the Pirates, with 10 reaching the initial sack, tallied twice and the Knot-Holers gained an even break.

The Phillies also broke even yesterday, so the band of Huggins is still two games out of second place.

He Did—He Did Not.
A little sketch entitled "He did—he did not" was put on in the sixth inning of the second game and resulted in the banishment of Jake Peck and umpire Harrison. Hornsby was on third as a result of his double and Cruise's out. Huggins called for the square ball. Peck popped a little fly over Carlson. Pitterer came in fast, and from the stand it looked as if he had made a fair catch.

Pitterer, thinking the same way, did not try for either man, but threw to third for a double play. Harrison ruled that Peck had trapped the ball and called both men safe. This brought on a storm and the second sacker was chased.

Another outburst in the seventh when Harrison called Gonzalez safe stealing. Ward threw his glove in the air, Carey laid down on the grass in center and was chased for the day. Manager Bezdek also was sent away for getting too noisy. Even Hans Wagner, who placed Pitterer, kicked on the decision.

WRAY'S COLUMN

James Thorpe, "Athletic" Mercenary.

AN able lance in the defence of things amateur, Lawrence Perry, has alluded to the redoubtable Indian athlete Jim Thorpe as an "athletic mercenary"—a phrase which fits him like a one-piece bathing suit after a dip.

This most famous allround star in modern history, probably the greatest all-time athlete of any day, has been a professional from the time he was an amateur—if you permit the "bull."

"What's in it?" seems to have been Lo, the Poor Sac-and-Fox's, first thought, before taking up a new sport.

But Thorpe was uncovered and his amateur laurels wrested from him long ago; and names that might once have been offensive are now merely descriptive.

Why not pick on offenders who still pretend to amateurism? It's time to uncover some new wolves parading in sheep's clothing; and the woods are full of them.

A Few Examples.
If a professional, alias an "athletic mercenary," is one who makes his living out of sport, there is no lack of pros. A certain golf champion as surely owes all of his rise and much of his financial gains to his supremacy in golf as many a professional, even though his profits are indirect.

Schools are noted for athletes who sell their athletic prowess for education or even for money. The bush leagues in other days were filled with embryonic Jim Thorpes, hiding under assumed names.

These are the real athletes, not the professional who is out in the open. The men who sell their skill while seeking to preserve their amateur fronts, are the boys that need attention.

"Pro" Football for Gotham.
MASON and Canton, two professional football Ohio elevens that, in past years have made college football pay, will break into New York this year in the hope of getting a toe hold in the big burg that falls for everything from a gold brick to Jack Curley.

While academically we object to professional football, believing it would supply a field that would tend to make college men "loose" in their amateur honesty, we confess to a keen desire to see teams of such caliber in action.

It is a desire natural to anyone eager to view supermen in action. For these two teams, one of which is led by Thorpe, represent the highest possible class of football talent, namely All-America college men, seasoned by four years—or more—under good coaches and wise in all the arts of play.

Not even the smooth working intercollegiate champions of the country could furnish a similar

Bringing the old town back, means restoring "pool alley," the South Side track, the House of Delegates Boodle Combine, the "Big Club," the all-night saloon, the "Moon, yet, ain't it!" and other atrocities of the period.

We take it the public is just as eager to return to these medieval horrors as to the ancient and venerable methods of conducting a racing meet.

Firemen to Play Letter-Carriers at Cards' Field

Proceeds of Game Between Department Nines Will Go to Post-Dispatch Fund.

Baseball teams, picked from the ranks of St. Louis firemen and letter carriers, will play at Cardinal Field, Vandeventer avenue and Natural Bridge road, next Monday, for the departmental championship of the city and the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Free Milk and Ice Fund.

The makeup of the clubs has not yet been definitely settled, as both departments have been sifting out the best material from a large number of applicants. Over 60 firemen applied for positions on the team. This number has been weeded out until 15 men remain. The Firemen's team will be selected from the following candidates:

Catchers, Rickey, Hiel, Wahley and Willmore; pitchers, Connell, Fahley and Stratton; first base, Walsh; second base, Beckman, Dierberger and Buecker; shortstop, Barker and Finnigan; left field, Shuster and Fahy; center field, Garrigan; right field, Monahan.

First Chief Fanser, who will occupy a box at the game with Postmaster Colin Selph, ordered the elimination series for the firemen with the idea of getting a representative team. The above-named men are the survivors.

Carriers Beat Neusel.
The Letter Carriers' organization has been effected for some time and the team has held several practice games. Last week the club played the Kulagers, and beat that good aggregation with Ray Neusel, the well-known professional, in the box for the Kulagers Mike Donahue, the Irish Nightingale, nesting on first.

The Letter Carriers' team will be selected from the following players: Catchers, Komo and Albus; pitchers, Hefty and Brown; first base, Delaney and Brucker; second base, Laute, Miller, Juergens and Scott; third base, Feubel; shortstop, Neusel; left field, Dale and Leayna; center field, Dietz and Oventraut; right field, Vaccaro and Youtoff.

Branch Rickey, president of the Cardinals, offered the use of the park. An effort will be made to induce one of the Cardinals players, preferably Rogers Hornsby, to umpire the contest.

The Letter Carriers' last delivery on Monday may be advanced an hour in order to enable the postmen and their families to view the contest. Over 300 firemen will have the day off on Monday and will be able to attend the game.

The Letter Carriers' band and singers from the Leo First Cabaret company will render selections.

THE heroism of France has made the French language popular.
On this head there is a story illustrating the tact of M. Jusserand, the French Ambassador.
A Senator at a luncheon said to
M. Jusserand:
"Taka—er—eska voo voo-ly—I

M. Jusserand laid his hand on the Senator's shoulder, and in his excel-
